Governor Smith Travels.
Buy Good Land.
Don't Imitate Nature.
Our Best Customer.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

GOV. SMITH, in the farm belt, offers the farmers "immediate and adequate farm relief."

That is what farmers want. If Gov. Smith can supply it, they will want Gov. Smith.

Thousands lined the streets of Omaha to welcome Gov. Smith. He understands politics and voters, and was particularly pleased to hear workers from the packing houses calling out, "Hello Al."

WITH Henry Ford's co-operation, a group of men interested in flying have bought a Philadelphia airport for more than $1,000,000. That will prove an excellent investment, although the present object is not profit.

MEN bought corners for beer saloons, years ago, and made millions without planning it.

Then men bought corners for chain cigar stores and drug stores, and made more millions.

Next came oil companies competing for gasoline stations. Standard Oil of California some day will have in its gas station real estate, a profit almost equal to its profits in oil.

Buy good land in this country, take care of it and it will take care of you. But buy GOOD land.

A FEW years ago Lord Northcliffe paid $50,000 to Bleriot, first that flew the English Channel.

A new kind of plane called the "autogiro" or "windmill plane," has just flown the Channel, making a "sensational advance in aviation." Invented by an Italian, De la Cierva, this new plane went from London to Paris in four hops.

A few days ago Henry Ford said: "The right flying machine will go straight up and down."

That is what the autogiro does.

MEN do not solve problems by IMITATING nature, but by improving on nature. Wings spread out like those of a bird will not solve flying. Planes will be as different from a flying bird as a locomotive or automobile from a running deer.

A machine is coming with which you will arise vertically from the roof of your house, sail through the air, and descend on the hotel roof, across the continent or on the other side of the ocean.

UNCLE SAM'S best customer today is our good neighbor, Canada.

Eight hundred and fifty-two-million dollars in a year Canada pays the United States for goods imported. Old Mother Britain, our next best customer, spends with us $809,000,000.

WE, in turn, are fairly good customers of Canada. On Labor Day, 1,000,000 thirsty American travelers visited Canadian soil, leaving money and buying liquid goods on which there is a big profit.

Canada spends with us $240,000,000 more in a year than we spend with Canada. A way should be found to even that up, and doubtless will be found. Thirsty travel will help, and wise Canada lets the government take profits on alcohol. Bootleggers don't get them.

CLERGYMEN in some places are alleged to distribute "anti-Smith pledge cards," requesting church members to pledge themselves to vote against Gov. Smith because he is a Catholic.

What would those clergymen say if CATHOLIC PRIESTS DISTRIBUTED SIMILAR CARDS PLEDGING THEIR PARISHIONERS TO VOTE AGAINST HOOVER?

A strong point in Mr. Hoover's campaign is his sincere denunciation of all personalities and all religious discussion in this campaign.

AT intervals this column has asked Mr. Sloan, Mr. Du Pont and other General Motors bosses, "Why don't you go into airplane building?"

General Motors is brilliantly managed, limitless in resources and energy. Airplane production on a gigantic scale is near.

And now comes pleasing, unofficial announcement that General Motors "is preparing to establish a division for the manufacture of airplanes and equipment."

That "straight up and down" Spanish airplane should interest Mr. Sloan, also the gigantic dirigible, biggest in the world, now building in England.

MODERN dictators quarrel violently sometimes, but soon make up and are friends again. That proves wisdom.

Recently Kemal Pasha, dictator of Turkey, was sending pert messages to Mussolini, Italian dictator. He told Mussolini, "If you ever send Italian soldiers to Turkey, your big problem will be finding ground in which to bury them."

Now, Mussolini writes, politely thanking Kemal for hospitality to 1,000 young traveling Fascisti, and Kemal replies just as politely.

Dictators, if wise, will hang together, for old-fashioned governments don't care for them.

STORM TOLL UP

Reckon Dead At 1,000

By DON MORRIS,
International News Service.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 20.—With an unofficial death list nearing 1,000 persons and the local chapter of the Red Cross unable to give an accurate number of casualties, South Florida today began slowly recovering from the effects of the hurricane disaster. The Red Cross has been unable to set new figures on the death list because it lacks complete reports from the Everglades. Officials believe the estimate of 1,000 dead is exaggerated, but admit their estimate of yesterday—400—was too low.

Accurate lists of the names of the dead are also unavailable. Only a very small percentage of the bodies have been identified. No efforts are being made to identify the Negro dead.

EPIDEMIC FEARED

Disease is likely to sweep the Everglades unless thorough precautions are taken, officials say. An almost certain epidemic of typhoid is expected to result from sanitary conditions. Red Cross workers say inoculation is imperative.

Meantime, residents not employed in relief work are digging their way out of the havoc wrought by the blow. Trucks and dredges are working on the streets, removing the debris.

Aid from the outside world is arriving on all incoming trains. All sorts of supplies, such as food, clothing, building material, are arriving steadily.

BURY NEGROES IN TRENCHES

To speed up relief work and to facilitate the handling of bodies, Negro dead no longer are being brought to West Palm Beach, but are being buried in trenches 20 miles west of here.

All but a few scattered inhabitants at Cramer's Island, on Lake

FORD KNEW NO FRAUD

Judge Thomas J. Ford knew nothing of alleged irregularities in his election in 1927, nor had he the least suspicion of fraud, he declared today, adding that had there been the least bit of suspicion in his mind, he would not have tolerated it one second.

Judge Ford, one of the most unassuming men on the Allegheny county bench, discussed County Commissioner C. C. McGovern's charges made in Washington yesterday almost sadly.

The bringing of Judge Ford's name into the Vare-Wilson investigation has been a crushing blow to the soft-spoken jurist who expressed a desire to retire rather than be a candidate at the last election. Defeat would have been hard to take; so when the campaign was on its last lap, Judge Ford set about rallying his supporters and was returned victor by a small margin. He retained this margin even though a number of changes were made by the returning board, which inquired into the election thoroughly last winter.

"If Mr. McGovern's charges are true, I knew nothing of them," Judge Ford said.

"That I could not have possibly had any suspicion of irregularities is evidenced by Mr. McGovern's own statement. I am happy to think that Mr. McGovern holds me above suspicion."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Judge Thomas J. Ford was named by Col. C. C. McGovern yesterday as one of the jurists of Allegheny county elected by alleged fraud and corruption during the 1927 contest.

If she's a citizen of the United States, Ganna Walska must pay import duty on jewelry and clothing valued at two or two-and-a-half million dollars seized and held today by customs men at New York. DIME BUS WINS CHI.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—The Chicago Motor Coach Company has always operated on a 10-cent fare, with many routes seven miles in length. On July 4 the service to the public was extended by granting free transfers between all of the routes operated. This allows passengers to ride the full length of Chicago, a distance of about 14 miles, for one bus fare.

During the past four years bus operation in Chicago under a 10-cent fare has undergone enormous expansion. A total of 145 miles of bus routes are operated. Most of the equipment is of the double deck type with all-weather tops over the upper deck, making it possible to use both levels in winter.

CUSHIONS OF LEATHER

A large portion of the busses now in operation have leather-cushioned seats which are fully as comfortable as in the so-called luxurious accommodations in Pittsburgh.

In the past bus development has been concentrated on districts not adequately served by street car and elevated lines. The bus lines have done no apparent damage to the traffic of the other means of transportation. Chicago has a 7-cent street car fare and elevated tickets are sold three for 25 cents.

Instead of serving new territories

Polly Sails To Wed Tunney

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(INS.)—Polly Lauder will sail tomorrow night to meet Gene Tunney in Italy, where they will be married at Sorrento during the first week of October, according to reports to day.

The bride-to-be will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. George Lauder, her sister, Mrs. Edward Storrs Dewing, and others, and will take a wedding trousseau valued at $40,000, including a $10,000 mink coat and a cap of pearls.

CENTRAL PENNA. COUNTIES FOR HOOVER, POLL REVEALS

A group of counties in Central Pennsylvania join in the procession marching behind the banner of Herbert Hoover on the face of returns in the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania by The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

These counties, nestling in the beautiful mountain valleys of the state and peopled largely by succeeding generations of farmers, are sending in ballots in some volume.

Straw vote by states—Page 17.

Supplementing heavy returns from other rural counties in the northern central area and the northern tier, these ballots were instrumental in rolling up for the Republican candidate his most overwhelming lead in the returns for any one day.

In a total of 1,942 ballots received for the day, Hoover was given a majority of 756 over Gov. Alfred E. Smith. The Democratic candidate captured an ordinary majority of the votes from Scranton and Philadelphia, but the number of ballots filed from these cities was small compared to the rural vote.

The present totals in the Pennsylvania poll, which is part of the canvass of the United States by the Hearst papers, are: Hoover, 20,020, 14,318 men and 5,702 women; Smith, 14,356, 9,859 men and 4,497 women.

These voters in 1924 cast their ballots as follows: Coolidge, 24,369, 17,293 men and 7,076 women; Davis, 3,125, 2,450 men and 675 women; LaFollette 2,280.

THREATENS RASKOB WITH BOMB

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—(A.P.)—A man 65 years old is under arrest here charged with attempted blackmail and extortion in threatening the life of John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, and the destruction of his home at Claymont, near Wilmington, Del.

He gave his name as Frank C. Mooney, 309 South Juniper street, Philadelphia. He was held in $10,000 bail after a hearing before Police Magistrate Evan T. Pennock.

Mooney is charged with writing four letters to Mr. Raskob's wife, in which he demanded $100,000, stating that his circumstances were so desperate that he had decided to "cast all scruples to the winds and to risk all on one last appeal to the god of chance."

SEIZED IN POSTOFFICE

Mooney was arrested last night after he had called at the North Philadelphia Postoffice to receive a reply to his letters. He drove to the postoffice in a sedan with a Negro at the wheel. He was followed by private detectives when he left the postoffice and when the

Wagner Receiver Named

The Commonwealth Trust Company was named receiver of the Honus Wagner Sporting Goods Company, 211 Wood street, by Judge R. M. Gibson, in Federal Court today after an involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been filed against the concern.

James L. Orris, creditor in the sum of $26,000, presented a petition for appointment of a receiver. Orris, the Electric Sign Company, with a claim of $10, and the W. J. Gilmore Drug Company, with a claim of $4, filed the bankruptcy petition. Orris sets forth that stock in the store is valued at $25,000. Judge Gibson directed that all assets be sold at public or private sale.

Hurricane Remnant Here

Pittsburgh today was in the center of the same storm, greatly abated, that wreaked havoc in the West Indies and Florida. The barometer here registered 29.78, the lowest in the Eastern part of the country, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said.

Up to 8 a. m. today rainfall measured .81 inch. Heavier rain was reported along the Monongahela valley.

As Palm Beaches Push Hunt for Dead

STREETS BLOCKED

Streets and highways in South Florida, particularly in the Palm Beach area and directly inland from there, are blockaded by wreckage of homes and buildings, such as these scenes, telephoned and rushed by airplane, show. This is in West Palm Beach.

SEARCH PRESSED

Throughout the storm area, haggard rescue crews still search the debris for bodies and for injured persons. As their work progresses, the death toll steadily mounts. This is Clemitas avenue, West Palm Beach. Here gasoline men in the midst of debris serve relief cars.

DISEASE

Debris such as this presents a major problem to relief workers. To check the spread of contamination, it is necessary to clean up the wrecked cities as soon as possible and it must be done also to allow ambulances and relief trucks to operate in succoring the injured.

HUNDREDS SHOWN HOW TO COOK AT FREE SCHOOL

With modern equipment and good ingredients, cooking has become an exact science, Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree, expert in home economics, asserted at the opening of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Free Cooking School in the Soldiers' Memorial Hall yesterday. The intelligent housewife, she said, can set about the preparation of even the most complicated dishes with complete assurance that they will be a success.

Another capacity crowd jammed the auditorium at today's session, which opened at 2 o'clock.

In her first lesson Mrs. Crabtree presented recipes for an unusually palatable meat loaf, piquant salads, dainty desserts, after-dinner jelly mints and other dishes. She mixed the ingredients together and cooked them right on the stage, and gave the dishes, along with a number of other attractive gifts, to persons in the audience whose names were drawn at random from a box by a baby.

GIFTS FOR VISITORS

The gifts included 25 baskets of nationally advertised groceries, flowers, bakery products and a small Lady Dover electric iron. Five major gifts—a General Electric refrig-

THOUSANDS IN WEST HAIL GOV. SMITH

While Broken Florida Gasps :-: Pittsburgh Red Cross Rushes Succor :-: Nation Turns to Relief

WORKERS

Red Cross workers in Pittsburgh, as everywhere in the nation, have responded quickly to rush succor to balmy Florida, broken after the West Indian hurricane. Here, Helen Selznick, Mrs. G. M. Roland, Jr., Ruth Simpson, Mrs. Charles Goldsmit, Mrs. M. Horner and Miss B. L. Templar seek the city's aid through the mails.

CLOTHES

The local chapter of the Red Cross, always first to respond in public emergency, has called for contributions and, now, for discarded clothing suitable for refugees of the storm in Florida and in West Indian islands. Some of those directing local work are Emille Johnston, junior secretary; Frances Speer, executive secretary, and Ruth Holland, nursing service.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Here, volunteer workers receive subscriptions from Mr. and Mrs. Pittsburgh and give out as much information as they can to those who are interested in the work and in relatives in the hurricane area. As the nation responds to relieve refugees' suffering, just as it did in 1926 for Florida, relief ships and relief trains speed to the stricken areas.

THOUSANDS HAIL SMITH IN WEST

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 20.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith is a very determined man—once he makes up his mind.

He announced at the start of his western invasion that not under any circumstances would he make any speeches from the rear end of his train. He has a voice that won't stand any undue straining.

"No back-platform stuff," he said.

Veterans of many campaigns, including that of Bryan in '96, smiled to themselves and, knowing Gov. Smith's weakness for crowds, offered odds that he would not and could not carry out his determination.

THOUSANDS HAIL HIM

The Democratic nominee has been on the road for four days and traveled approximately 2,000 miles, meeting thousands of people. He has yet to make anything even approaching a speech from the rear-platform of his train. There have been opportunities galore and urging no end. But the governor is adamant. He has strained his back in a dozen different postures, shaking hands, but no speeches.

They told him a few weeks ago in Albany to leave his derby behind when he started west.

They said the West wouldn't understand the brown derby. They said leave the brown derby behind.

"Why?" asked the Governor. "I wear it here, why not there? I'm going to be myself."

He has worn the brown derby in every public appearance he has made since leaving Albany. Not once has he appeared in any other headgear.

This is "Al" Smith's campaign. It is being conducted according to his own ideas, at least insofar as he personally is concerned.

The Smith train ran out of the Nebraska-Kansas grain belt during the night and swung into Oklahoma. The Governor's second major speech of the trip will be delivered tonight in Oklahoma City. His train is due to arrive there at 9:30, Central Standard time, affording him the opportunity of an entire day for conferences with state leaders.

Dime Bus Fare Wins Chicago

by instituting "luxurious bus service" at 25 cents as was done in Pittsburgh, the Chicago street car lines are planning to start the operation of bus feeder lines. These will charge only 7 cents. The fare will entitle the passenger to a free transfer to a street car.

A bitter fight is now being waged before the City Council between the bus and the street car companies. The bus company is seeking a franchise to serve 14 recently developed communities with 10-cent bus lines. The street car company wishes to include these in its bus feeder system. About 100 miles of new bus routes are involved in the franchise struggle.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company had conditions similar to those of the new communities in Chicago in giving service to Mt. Lebanon and Squirrel Hill. Instead of supplying feeder busses with transfers to street cars or a reasonably priced bus line it chose to take advantage of its monopoly by charging a 25-cent rate.

Evidence presented at the bus hearings before the Chicago City Council indicates that the Pittsburgh Railways Company has been backward in using buses to extend its service to outlying communities.

In April 359 electric street car companies were operating 8,784 busses. Philadelphia car lines operate 524 buses. Cleveland, Kansas City, Atlanta and Washington car lines operate double deck buses on pneumatic tires.

About half of the 37 buses operated in St. Louis are feeder buses. Four-fifths of the municipal buses operated in Detroit are feeder buses. Two-thirds of Baltimore's 91 buses are feeders. The same percentage prevails in Los Angeles. Most of Boston's 241 buses are feeders.

PGH. RATE NOT JUSTIFIED

Investigations of bus lines in other cities have thoroughly dispelled the argument that Pittsburgh is being given a service worth 15 cents more than that of other cities. Equipment fully as comfortable and in many cases identical with that in Pittsburgh has been found. The bus companies in all cases have been satisfied that they are being paid a reasonable fare.

Officials of the Omnibus Corporation, which operates both the New York and Chicago bus lines, state that in New York some of the routes operate on grades more severe than are found in Pittsburgh. The Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company in following the boulevards avoids heavy grades in most cases.

AID SPED 15,000 FLORIDA HOMELESS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 20.—(AP.)—While the count of loss of life and the injured and homeless from Florida's tropical hurricane went forward in the storm area today, additional relief was speeding to the district from every direction.

Food, clothing, medical supplies and building material were hauled into the stricken Lake Okeechobee area by train and boat, while trucks and other conveyances continued their missions of mercy to the injured and sick, or brought the dead out for burial.

Adjt. Gen. Vivien Collins already was here making a survey of the conditions, and Gov. John Martin was en route to lend his aid if needed. Before leaving Tallahassee last night, the Governor, in response to urgent requests for aid from local authorities, called upon the people of Florida to contribute funds to the sufferers.

Estimates of the dead continued to vary between 325 and 400 persons, the majority Negroes who were employed as laborers on the farms, and Red Cross officials placed the number of homeless at 15,000.

Approximately 350 persons are dead in the Okeechobee section, swept both by hurricane winds and by a wall of water loosed from the lake when the dikes broke, Gen. Collins reported to Gov. Martin.

Howard W. Selby, chairman of the Palm Beach chapter of the Red Cross, estimated the death toll would reach nearer 400, saying that 200 were known dead to his workers.

Collins' report said there were 4,000 homeless refugees in the city and that as many more were expected here tomorrow. While the food situation was good, he said, there was great need of clothing, especially among Negroes.

Compilation of lists of the dead was hampered by the difficulties under which the recovery squads worked. Many bodies had to be buried immediately. In some instances searchers, lacking means of conveyance, tied the bodies to trees and left them for the trucks.

The State Board of Health sent physicians and nurses who were administering to the injured and sick and giving preventive medicines to others. Charles H. Mann, president of the board, announced there was no danger of disease here.

The State Board of Health of North Carolina offered physicians, engineers and sanitary experts. The Fourth Corps Area of the United States Army dispatched two officers.

Many Florida cities raised funds. A special car of clothing was en route from Jacksonville.

Additional workers from the National Red Cross headquarters were expected.

Several hundred residents of Clewiston and Moorehaven who fled last Sunday to high ground, were re-establishing themselves in their homes. These towns, with other communities around the western and southwestern shores of the lake, escaped the full fury of the storm and reported only slight damage.

FORD ELECTION HELD FRAUD

Elections Committee investigating Pennsylvania election conditions in connection with the Vare-Wilson contest, McGovern, one of the Allegheny county commissioners, told the committee he had decided to name one of the judges referred to during his earlier examination without consulting counsel.

Nelson McVicar was one of the defeated candidates for judge, whose failure to win was due to alleged fraud, he said.

SAYS ALL BENEFITTED

Pressed for other names, McGovern said all of the nine judges elected last year benefitted to some degree by the same alleged corruption.

The specific question which McGovern was called upon to answer after withholding a reply in the morning, pending advice of his counsel and an opportunity to examine his personal records, follows:

"Which of the nine judges to whom you have referred were so corruptly elected?"

McGovern asked the right to prepare his reply with an explanatory statement, which was granted by Chairman Waterman. He said he hesitated to name the judges because of the effect it would have on the court.

"I do not want to cast a reflection on the court unnecessarily," he declared, "but Judge Thomas F. Ford is one of the judges I had in mind. Nelson McVicar was one of the defeated candidates for judge who suffered defeat by the corruption and fraud."

McGovern told the committee that his conclusions were based on personal investigations conducted by him and under his direction after the elections. Fraud and irregularities revealed in 58 ballot boxes examined led him to believe that the regular organization candidates benefited by at least 6,000 votes that were illegal, he asserted.

"In Judge Ford's case," the witness said, "these 6,000 votes were enough to save him from defeat. I do not intend to charge Judge Ford with responsibility for the corruption. He is a good judge. But he, along with the other eight, benefited by the practices of a corrupt political machine in Pittsburgh."

The 58 ballot boxes examined, he declared, were typical of one-third of those in the county.

Final oral testimony in the Vare-Wilson contest will be taken by the Senate sub-committee at Pittsburgh during October, Senator Waterman announced. The definite date of the Pittsburgh hearings, to be set later, depends largely on the amount of time consumed by the sub-committee at Philadelphia, where the committee will resume its inquiry October 1. Immediately after finishing up at Philadelphia, Chairman Waterman said, he would proceed to Pittsburgh to permit attorneys for Senator-Elect William S. Vare to offer witnesses in rebuttal of testimony presented here this week in the interest of William B. Wilson, Democratic opponent of Vare in the 1926 elections.

FLORIDA HURRICANE DEATH TOLL NEAR 1,000

Okeechobee, were killed as a result of the storm, according to C. W. Suttons, of Pahokee. According to local predictions, should relief be stopped from reaching the area, the list of dead will increase immediately.

While a weary-eyed people buried their dead, nursed 10,000 injured and sought temporary shelter for 15,000 homeless, plans got under way to rebuild the area devastated by last Sunday's hurricane.

CURIOUS UNWELCOME

One thing was certain, and that was that everybody in the storm section must work. Many of the relief workers were on their feet for 60 hours before seeking rest. The Red Cross officials broadcast a special plea for the curious to stay away.

Hundreds gathered here from all sections of the Lake Okeechobee district, swept by the hurricane, looking for food and shelter. Consequently, the Palm Beaches were crowded to capacity and there was no room for the curious, officials pointed out.

The southeastern shore of Lake Okeechobee was described by relief workers as the "hell-spot" of the disaster. This shore is considerably lower than the lake level and is protected in normal times by dikes.

The hurricane, however, whipped up a huge wall of water, swamping the houses of the laborers and Negroes on the southeastern shore. Few if any escaped.

S. W. Hiatt, a Palm Beach agricultural agent here today following a tour of the towns of Belleglade, South Bay, Chosen, Ritta, Lorrey and Kraemer on Lake Okeechobee in the Everglades section, reported that 600 persons are dead in that section. He added that between 600 and 650 others are missing and are believed to have been drowned when the Lake Okeechobee dikes gave way.

Hiatt said this information was received from Frank Halloway, a contractor and farm owner of Belleglade, and was substantiated by other prominent citizens of the district.

THREATENS TO BOMB RASKOB

Negro noticed that the sedan was being followed, he stopped the car and fled. Mooney was then arrested.

The only wisness at the hearing before Magistrate Pennock was William I. Stauffer, manager of a private detective agency employed by Mrs. Roskob.

The first letter was received by Mrs. Raskob about two months ago. It was not signed, but directed her to reply in the personal column of a Philadelphia newspaper simply "I comply. Instruct."

"I have descended," said the letter, "to what in all probability is the most despicable form of criminality — blackmailing, and while I am reviling myself for doing this my circumstances are of so desperate a nature that I have decided to cast all scruples to the winds and to risk all on one last appeal to the god of chance."

DEMANDS BONDS

The letter demanded $100,000 in unregistered liberty bonds in a manner and in a place to be designated in a second letter.

"I do not wish to harm you or yours," the leter continued. "But I must have these funds at once, failing in which the first step I will take will be the utter destruction of your residence at Claymont. I think I stirred the pulse of your husband the other day in New York. I did not try to make any fatalities result from the fall of the elevator, but the next time fortune will not be so kind."

"If this letter is ignored, or if the matter becomes public, or if the authorities are taken into your confidence, I would suggest that any occupants of your house at Claymont be warned to vacate at once for I do not want to injure them following the destruction of your Claymont property. I shall at once take steps in Maryland and any attempt on your part to trip me by using the authorities will not injure me, but I assure you most positively will be followed by a funeral and Gov. Smith will be put to the necessity to secure another man to run his campaign, for the next time the elavator will not stop."

Weather Conditions.

The tropical storm, central near Washington, D. C., last night, moved northwestward and is now central slightly east of Pittsburgh. The pressure had increased at its center to 29.78 at Pittsburgh, and winds have diminished, but rainfall continues moderately heavy over its path.

A trough of low pressure extends southwestward from Iowa to Arizona, with the center at Phoenix, 29.54, and high pressure overlies the North and South Atlantic coast, and the North Pacific states and inland to Wyoming.

Rain has fallen over the Middle and North Atlantic states, the lower lakes and Upper Ohio valley, the northern plains and central Rocky Mountains. It is somewhat warmer in the Middle Atlantic states and Central valleys, while it is cooler in the Dakotas, the Northern Rocky Mountains and the northwestern states.

HIKER GOES TO FACE CHARGES

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 20.—Loveda Boyle, 18-year-old hitch-hiker, charged with shooting to death Robert McCormick, near Akron, O., last Friday, started back to the Ohio city today, having waived extradition. She was accompanied by Mrs. Greta Footman, Summit county (O.) probation officer.

The girl, who contends she shot McCormick in self-defense, is expected to be taken before the Ohio grand jury next Monday. James Boyle, her father, returned last night from Akron, where he engaged counsel for his daughter.

Miss Boyle was hiking from Oklahoma to Oil City, and was picked up by McCormick and another man.

PGH. STORM AID FUND $3,433

Contributions amounting to $3,433 have been received by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Red Cross for the relief of hurricane victims in Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the southeastern states. These gifts were sent by individuals, firms and organizations in response to the appeal through the newspapers and were received before the letters asking for funds had been sent out.

The contributions thus far received came in sums from $1 to checks for $1,000.

CAMPUS

SONG

And so they wrote a song, a love song, "My Dream Girl." This as Evaline works over another, hopeful that it will "catch."

MUSICIANS

Both of these former co-eds are musicians; Evaline sings—oftimes, now, her own song—and Pauline plays the piano. Their song's about a girl, 'cause no one writes about a man.

PRINTED

The song's printed now and there have been conferences in New York with even Irving Berlin himself, if you please. Evaline, who wrote the words, will play it for you, if you wish.

AWAY

CHANCE TO WIN TEXAS, HOOVER IS TOLD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—As Herbert Hoover turned today to the consideration of his second prepared address in his campaign he had before him pressing invitations to extend the program of four prepared speeches which he set for himself upon his return from making his acceptance address in California.

Whether the Republican presidential candidate will find it possible to respond to these appeals remains to be determined, but as election day approaches the pressure upon him will be increased and at least some of his advisers think that he will accept some of the invitations.

PLANS THREE SPEECHES

His present plan, however, is to speak only at Elizabethtown, Tenn., New York City and Boston before turning back to his California home to cast his vote. He now is working on the Elizabethtown address, which will be delivered on October 6, and which is expected to deal with industrial questions.

Upon returning here from Northern New Jersey, where he discussed labor Monday night and made several impromptu talks in his two days of campaigning there, Hoover again was urged to visit both Texas and Illinois either during his return trip across the continent or at some earlier time.

The invitation from Texas was personally presented by Thomas B. Love and other Democrats of that state who fought against the nomination of Alfred E. Smith as the Democratic standard-bearer, and who have been active in the anti-Smith campaign since the Houston convention.

Love and others who called at general headquarters yesterday declared that if the Republican candidate would visit Texas he would have an opportunity to swing that Democratic stronghold into the Republican presidential column in November.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick urged Hoover to visit Illinois during his return trip, speaking preferably at Chicago. She asserted that the women of the state were showing a great interest in the Republican cause and that there was no apprehension about the farm vote.

NO REPLY TO SMITH

Hoover has had no comment to make, thus far, on the Omaha speech of Gov. Smith on the agricultural problem, and it was indicated that he probably would have none. However, other leaders of his party are expected to reply, Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican National Committee, having issued a statement late yesterday declaring that the Democratic candidate's assertions were based upon misquotations.

Some of the biggest guns of the Republican party who are now or will soon take the stump also are expected to reply to the New York Governor in addresses both in the West and the East.

SIZE OF BALLOT SETS RECORD

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP.)—The ballot that will be handed to Pennsylvania voters on November 6 will be 24 inches wide and 44 inches long, the largest in the history of the state.

It will contain eight party names, seven of them carrying presidential electors. The seven are Republican, Democratic, Labor, Prohibition, Industrial, Socialist and Workers' Communist. The other party is called the American and carries only state candidates.

The large ballot is principally due to the fact that it will carry 14 proposed amendments to the state constitution which the electors will be asked to vote upon.

D. OF A. R. BEGIN VOTE DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—The Daughters of the American Revolution today announced plans for a nation-wide campaign to "get out the vote" and for instructing those under age in the mechanics of presidential elections. Local chapters were urged to form organizations in their respective communities and it was recommended that the young people be formed into groups to transport voters to the polls by automobile on election day.

Jaworski Fights Death

International News Service.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Though physicians said they expected death momentarily, Paul Jaworski, jail breaker and murderer, was still alive in City Hospital here today.

Jaworski was wounded and captured last Thursday after a gun battle in which he killed one policeman and wounded two other men. Thirteen months ago he shot his way out of the county jail at Pittsburgh, where he was under conviction for first degree murder.

WANTED IN BUFFALO

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Paul Jaworski, notorious bandit, held in Cleveland on the charge of shooting a policeman, was identified yesterday as the leader of the bandit gang which held up the Liberty Bank armored car here last March 17 and escaped with $24,000.

Identification of the gunman was made by George McGee, guard on the armored car at the time of the holdup, who went to Cleveland and saw the wounded bandit in jail.

The $24,000 that Jaworski took from the armored car was the payroll of the Duffy Silk Mills. There were six men in the gang of robbers. Jaworski is the only one to have fallen in the hands of police so far as authorities know.

OIL CONSUMPTION GAIN LAID TO HIGH AUTO SPEED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20.—(AP.)—The increased speed with which automobiles are being driven is responsible for the increase in oil consumption, H. C. Mongey, chief chemist of the General Motors Corporation, last night told the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the National Petroleum Association. "Improvements in driving conditions, engines and fuels have made higher speeds more common," he said, "and this gain in power of the engines was accomplished without a corresponding increase in size. Both of these factors of greater power in the same space and a greater use of the available power have resulted in higher oil temperature at these higher speeds."

OLDEST TWINS?

AGED 90 YEARS

Mrs. Frances Peterson (left) and Mrs. Mary Halbert, Whitehall, Ill., are believed the oldest living twins. They are 90. They were born in 1839 and married in 1857 and 1860, resepctively.

SMITH SLEEPY, DAUGHTER SUBS FOR HIM IN SPEECH

EL RENO, Okla., Sept. 20.—(AP.)—Serving as a substitute for her father, Mrs. John A. Warner, daughter of Gov. Smith, made her first speech of the campaign trip from the back platform of the presidential nominee's special train here today.

"My father stayed up very late working on his speech last night," explained Mrs. Warner, when the cheering from the crowd at the station platform had stopped. "So we thought it would be best not to waken him this morning. You know, he has a very hard day ahead of him in Oklahoma City."

The slim girl, in her chic tailored navy blue suit, had the entire attention of the hundreds who had come to see her father. A lusty applause followed her few words of explanation and appreciation of El Reno's interest, seeming to indicate that the substitution had pleased the audience.

As she stepped to the side of the observation platform to give way to Charles W. Berry, who is the Governor's personal physician, a little blonde girl standing toward the front of the crowd reached a slim hand through the railing. Mrs. Warner grasped it cordially and seemed greatly pleased when a little bunch of garden flowers appeared. The little girl explained that she was the daughter of the engineer of the train and wanted to give the flowers to the Governor's wife and daughter.

LINDY LANDS IN COLORADO

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Sept. 20.—(INS.)—Unannounced and with "nothing to say," Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh was in Colorado Springs today. He left Los Angeles at 10 a. m., yesterday and landed here 9 hours later after a non-stop flight.

It was thought Lindbergh was responding to an invitation to attend the national G. A. R. convention at Denver, but this report could not be confirmed.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 20.—Police have been asked to hunt for Jennie Jim, 17, daughter of Charles Jim, said to have been abducted from her home here and taken out of the city by a young man.

Zeppelin Up on 2nd Test

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, in which Dr. Hugo Eckner intends to fly to America, ascended at 8 a. m. today for a second flight over Southern Germany.

The airship took a westerly course, its objective depending on the weather, which was glorious at the start. After cruising over Lake Constance, the dirigible crossed into Switzerland, flew over Zurich at 8:50 and Basle at 9:22. It then turned toward Freiburg.

In addition to a crew of 39, the Graf Zeppelin carried 16 newspaper men and 15 mechanics from the Friedrichshafen works.

Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosndahl, U. S. N., commander of the dirigible Los Angeles, and John E. Kehl, American consul at Stuttgart, were also aboard.

THREE TWELFTH WARD VOTE OFFICERS NAMED

Three election officers to fill vacancies in the Twelfth Ward were appointed by Judge James B. Drew in Quarter Sessions Court yesterday on petitions filed by Attorney Jacob Shulgold. They are:

Judge, Eighth District, Carl Vizlietti, 121 Mayflower street, vice Peter Perschetti, moved from district.

Inspector, Twelfth District, F. J. Lamberto, 41 Carver street, no inspector having been elected.

BARON PASSES SOFIA IN FLIGHT TO TOKIO

By BARON GUNTHER VON HUENEFELD.

(Copyright 1928, by the New York American and Universal Service.)

ABOARD THE AIRPLANE EUROPA EN ROUTE TO TOKIO (Via Radio from Sofia), Sept. 20.—Charles Linder and I in the Europa were mistaken for American fliers on our arrival in Sofia yesterday, the populace thinking the Swedish reserve officer who is my chief pilot was Col. Lindbergh. They were just as enthusiastic, however, when they found out the difference and gave us a hearty welcome.

We were received by the premier, who wished us the best of luck on our journey to California. I have just received a Turkish visa by telegraph and therefore am making a slight change in our plans, going to Constantinople and from there to Angora, where we will meet Mustapha Kemal Pasha.

Our intended flight to America has created a great deal of interest here, even the chambermaid in the hotel insisting that I tell her all about the flight and saying she has great confidence in our success in getting to San Francisco, because of the numerous ribbons and decorations on my breast.

Our machine is in fine shape. The flight from Berlin to Sofia took us nine hours and 30 minutes, because a wrong direction was given us, and strong, squally winds slowed us down. The journey would ordinarily take about eight hours.

NEW MARK SET BY VOTERS

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 20.—While all former records for the registration of voters on any single day were broken Tuesday, it is believed by local observers that this record will again be broken on the last registration day, October 6. Each of the two registration days so far this year has established a new record.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 20.—Another record registration in all Venango county precincts was reported on Tuesday, bringing the total enrolled for the November election over the 3,000 mark in the city. Mrs. Phoebe Sloane, who is 91, was among the oldest to register. She said she would cast her vote for Hoover.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 20.—(AP.)—James Wiggins May, 82, surgeon general of the United Confederate Veterans, died yesterday.

KANE, PA., YOUTH 5 HOURS IN BAY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 20.—(INS.)—Two midshipmen, Donald M. Weller, Kane, Pa., and John O. Kinert, Vancouver, Wash., were confined in the Naval Academy Hospital suffering from exposure.

The two young men, who are spending their vacation here, were forced to spend nearly five hours in the waters of Chesapeake Bay after their sailing canoe capsized when it was struck by a large wave.

As Kinert was unable to swim, Weller, after bracing his companion in a more secure position on the capsized boat, started to swim ashore, two miles away. Reaching shore exhausted he enlisted the aid of a boatman and the pair rowed out to Kinert. In the meantime a speed boat had rescued Kinert as he was slipping his hold on the boat.

CHARGES BRIDE KEPT PRISONER

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—A writ of habeas corpus to restore his alleged stolen bride to his home was issued in Superior Court here yesterday on appeal made by William E. Williams, 20, who charges that his wife has been held prisoner in her father's home since their marriage last Friday.

In his appeal Williams charged that following the marriage he and his bride went to the home of her father, John Hoffman, to tell him the news. The father, irate, locked his daughter in her room and has since kept her there, according to Williams. Mr. Hoffman also assaulted his new son-in-law, according to the charges.

The writ has been ordered served on the father, who must produce his daughter in court. The bride is 18.

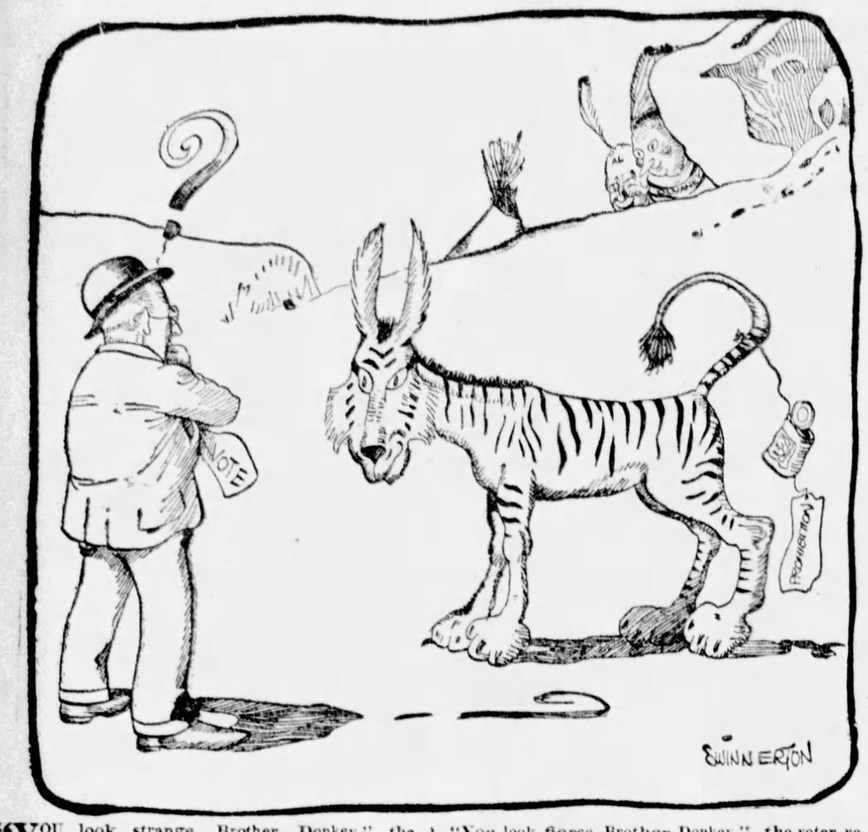
MEMORIAL HALL FILLED

Pittsburgh women hear the opening lect[ure] in Hall, as this panorama shows. Today, Mrs. Crabtree conducted one session at 2 o'clock and tomorrow there will be lectures at 2 o'clock and at 8 o'clock. At each lecture, many prizes are given to the women attending the school. Those who receive them are selected by a small child, who draws names at random. All the foods prepared by Mrs. Crabtree in the demonstration are also given away. Tomorrow, valuable household articles will be given away.

Political Primer for Young People



"YOU look strange, Brother Donkey," the voter declared
As together they strolled down the street;
"Your visage is meek, but I'm terribly scared
By those long, curving claws on your feet."

"In the days of Bill Bryan," the Donkey replied,
"I didn't look that way, at all;
"But I hafta be crafty, for now I'm allied
"With Olvaney of Tammany Hall."

"You look fierce, Brother Donkey," the voter remarked,
"You wear a demoniac grin,
"And I strongly suspect that a Tiger is parked Inside of that asinine skin."

"Please shush till November," the Donkey replied;
The Donkey was shy in the brain;
"And since Alfred has learned how to step high and wise,
I must run the whole doggoned campaign."

MRS. M'CORMICK CALLS POLL ACCURATE

By CHARLES N. WHEELER
Noted Political Analyst

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Ruth Hanna McCormick, who has become the star spellbinder in the Illinois Republican cavalcade, is observing closely the nation-wide poll by the Hearst publications.

Mrs. McCormick, daughter of Mark Hanna and widow of the United States Senator Medill McCormick, hung up a new record for a primary vote when she was nominated for Congress last April in the state-wide primary. She declares the poll is of great value to everyone interested in watching the developments in the campaign battle.

"I have been campaigning in the south end of the state," she said "and I can testify that the poll through this district squares with the surface indications.

VOTERS SHIFTING

"The situation is a little different from anything I can remember in Illinois politics. The cross currents this time have added considerable confusion, due to the crosing over of both men and women voters from one party to the other on the farm relief and prohibition issues.

"We have found in some counties that many Democrat women voters will not support Gov. Smith this fall because they fear his attitude on the Eighteenth Amendment.

"At the same time we have encountered a number of Republican men voters who are still wavering because of dissatisfaction with the Kansas City platform makers respecting the depression that has overtaken the wheat and corn belt farmers.

CALLS SURVEY ACCURATE

"These surface indications, I find, are shown with remarkable clearness in the Herald and Examiner poll. It is apparent to those who are interested enough to make a careful inquiry that the Hearst survey is giving us an accurate picture of what is taking place.

"Polls of this nature heretofore have been greeted with more or les skepticism by the party managers who happen to be on the losing side, and in some instances they have not always had a perfect batting record.

"But for what I think I know of conditions in Illinois I am inclined to place full reliance on the present poll. It is my opinion that it just portrays the actual lines of cleavage.

CLAIMS STATE

"In some respects the contest is in nosense a one-sided one but those campaign managers who tell you Illinois is going for Gov. Smith and Floyd Thompson are talking through their hats.

"My first interest, of course, is in agriculture. I happen to be one of those who know from practical experience just what the farmers are upagainst. I know what the trials and tribulations of the farmers are. I also know that, in working out this great problem, we farmers will be infinitely better off with Herbert Hoover in the White House than Gov. Smith and his New York supporters.

"While we have not got all that we demanded, the Republican platform and the Republican candidate are pledged to an intelligent solution of the problem and I believe it will be done. I believe that agriculture, as a whole, has much more to hope for from a Republican administration.

"In any event, I expect to be elected a member of the next Congress, and, so far as my feeble efforts go, there will be no pussyfooting when it comes time to work out the government's farm relief program."

RICH AND POOR UNITE TO FILL RELIEF SHIP

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—All day there was a steady procession of people bearing gifts to the New York American Porto Rican relief depot at Pier 4, East River—whence a ship sails Saturday for the desolate island.

They came in motor trucks, in touring cars and roadsters, and on foot, from the subway and elevated trains and surface cars—men, women and even children—all actuated by a common impulse to succor.

Some brought packages no larger than a shoe box. Some trundled large packing cases of food, clothing, building or medical supplies. As the pile of gifts grew, hour by hour, at Pier 4, donations or pledges of actual cash mounted to $4,575.

Every article will be administered by the American Red Cross. Every dollar in cash will likewise be turned over to the Red Cross.

As New York felt the frigid grasp of the fringes of the cataclysmic hurricane which swept Uncle Sam's little island possession, it appeared to have heightened realization of the full horror of the disaster.

One of the earliest gifts was from the Sheffield Condensed Milk Company, 2,500 cans of evaporated milk.

Many had sent small packages of food or clothing by parcel post. Two large cases of food came from R. H. Macy & Co.

There was another generous response at a dinner in the Beth Israel Hospital's drive. Bernard K. Marcus, president of the Bank of the United States, gave $500. At this same dinner, held in the Hotel Commodore, William Klein gave $100 and H. D. Baker gave $50.

Gifts also came from former Ambassador James W. Gerard, who sent $100; from James H. Snowden, Long Island society man, who sent $500, and $100 came from from V. Storrs, society man. John Hays Hammond, famous engineer, sent $100.

New orders caused the increased production. The coke output remains the same. Earlier in the week the coke production at the Bessemer plant of the Hillman company was increased by lighting 196 ovens.

Radio Reliability

A Letter . . . and Our Answer

We have a letter from a large distributing agency offering us first choice in Pittsburgh, to purchase discontinued models of electrically operated radio sets, at greatly reduced prices. They recite the great success which stores have had with similar sales in the past.

The model offered is one in current use, but it is to be replaced by an improved model, of which the public is not yet aware.

The Joseph Horne Co. will not buy the discontinued sets, no matter how tempting the possibilities of a special price and a big sale.

The Joseph Horne Co. will buy the new model, and give its customers the benefit of the improved set and the greater satisfaction which the later model implies.

Some other store will buy these sets; some other store will have this sale. Several thousand radio buyers will get "bargains." Several thousand radio buyers will regret their purchases when they see the new set.

In the meantime the Joseph Horne Co. radio business continues the largest in Pittsburgh, on its unvarying policy—standard sets and newest models only.

DRAGS PUPIL, WITNESSES TESTIFY

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 20.—Accused of inflicting severe wounds and bruises on Ruth Thomas, 13-year-old pupil, with a wooden paddle, and dragging her over the floor, Luther P. Claycomb, 35, principal of the Elim school, Upper Yoder township, was held for court charged with assault and battery on a minor child, by Alderman Wakefield Stuffey. He was freed on $300 bail.

Seven pupils testified against Claycomb at the hearing and the Thomas girl exhibited black and blue marks and other evidences of the alleged beating suffered a week ago.

According to the testimony Frances Thomas, a younger sister of Ruth smiled after making a mistake while at the blackboard. Principal Claycomb, it was testified, ushered her to her seat rather roughly. This peeved Ruth and she assailed the teacher verbally.

The principal, it was testified, seized Ruth, struck her with the paddle on the back and legs and dragged her to the door when she refused to obey his order to leave the room. She sat down at the threshold and refused to budge whereupon Claycomb ejected her forcibly.

Claycomb did not testify at the hearing. Charges against him were made by Ruth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas.

KILLED OVER 'BLACK PRINCE'

A quarrel over Mrs. Mary Grant's husband, who, she testified, was known as "the Black Prince," was responsible for the murder of Miss Emma Stevens, Negress, 36, 1411 Pasture street, during a battle with knives, according to Mrs. Grant, Negress, 35, of Fullerton street, who took the stand in her own defense today during her trial for murder before Judge James H. Gray in Criminal Court. The killing occurred May 28 at Logan and Pasture streets.

Mrs. Grant testified that the dead woman had been flirting with her husband, which led first to a wordy battle in a restaurant where Mrs. Grant worked, and then to the dead woman challenging Mrs. Grant to come out into the street. She said Miss Stevens had a dirk and that she had a butcher knife. She said the Stevens woman knocked her down and stabbed her in the arm with the dirk before she drove the butcher knife into Miss Stevens' chest. The latter died in Passavant Hospital a few hours later.

CONVICTED OF MURDER, WILL ASK NEW TRIAL

A motion for a new trial is to be filed later this week by Aaron Gilliams, Negro, of Boston street, found guilty of murder in the first degree, with life imprisonment fixed by the jury as the penalty. The trial, which had started in Criminal Court Monday before Judge A. B. Smith, of Susquehanna county, was concluded about noon yesterday and the jury came in after the regular afternoon adjournment time of court. Gilliams shot and killed Mitchell Himes, 31, 102 Beelen street, on December 7, at Beelen and Boston streets, where the men, both of whom had been drinking, quarreled over a woman.

GIFT OF PROPHECY COSTS WOMAN $100

Accused of telling fortunes, Mrs. A. Mawhinney, of 1827 Jancey street, was fined $100 by Magistrate John Orie in Morals Court today. Policewoman Nellie McDonald testified Mrs. Mawhinney also sold powders that "would charm any man."

OLD GOLD wins at the opera

. . . when charming Lucrezia Bori makes the Blindfold cigarette test

"When anything happens to my throat and I cannot sing, it seems to me as though the world stops!

"So you can imagine that I choose my cigarettes quite carefully and that I welcomed the opportunity to make this scientific test.

"It was most interesting, for one of the four cigarettes was so smooth and gentle . . . and yet of such fine flavor . . . that I chose it at once. It was an OLD GOLD."

LUCREZIA BORI . . . The world's greatest lyric soprano whose successes at the Metropolitan in "Pelleas and Melisande," "Pagliacci," "La Boheme," etc., have been widely admired.

MISS BORI was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing her taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

As MISS BORI appears in the role of Melisande in Maeterlinck's beautiful opera . . . "Pelleas and Melisande."

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

The simple secret of OLD GOLD'S charm

Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse, heavy top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. These golden-ripe heart-leaves give OLD GOLDS their honey-like smoothness. That's why you can always pick them.

STORE HOLDS BANQUET

More than 1,350 McCreery co-workers last night celebrated the twenty-fourth anniversary of the opening of the store with a banquet and dance. Arthur Kaufmann, general manager of the organization, included in his address facts relating to the preparations McCreery's have made for the anniversary event and expressed his confidence in his co-workers.

Alexander McLaughlin, president of the organization and also president of the Twenty Year Club, welcomed four new members, A. Fisher, L. Kelly, O. Stewart and C. Ray. This makes a total of 54 members in the Twenty Year Club. Mr. McLaughlin spoke briefly on the history of the organization, touching on a number of events connected with the establishment and growth of McCreery's in Pittsburgh. J. B. Sweeney, superintendent of the store, also spoke. Following the dinner there was a display of anniversary merchandise and a fashion show with living models. Later the co-workers danced.

BUGS BAER Says

GLASGOW has discovered that the key to life is a gold-plated germ.

They're right.

Not about the germ.

But the gold-plate.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

We will discard such terms as bacteriophage, ultramicroscopic virus, filterable forms of visualization and oxidized organism and prove that gold-plate looks very nice on a key.

Before giving the wife an 18-carat bacillus for Christmas it might be well to explain that Glasgow did not waste the gold-leaf on the germs.

The experiments were held in the Frankfort Institute by two Germans, Bechhold and Villa. Now you know what's becoming of the war debt.

They're squandering it buying gold-cloth vests for germs.

Why not purchase diamond hats for frogs or silver table service for little piggies?

Give a scientist a microscope and he not only believes everything he sees, but he magnifies it a thousand times.

When they start celebrating the gold wedding anniversary of a couple of malaria carriers it's time to look over the books.

Experiments like this are costly. After having gold-plated a microbe, the boys may become enthusiastic with power and try to see how it looks on an elephant.

We will run out of gold-plate before we run out of germs.

A lavaliere of perfectly matched bacilli may look lovely around the neck

But is it healthy?

Can a gold-plated oyster be used as collateral?

Don't drag the germs into finance. The most we can afford is an alloy of neuritis with pewter twinges.

HEADS SAFE TILL KLINE PROBES WAR OF ARRESTS

INVESTIGATION WILL GO DEEP, MAYOR PROMISES

Until Mayor Charles H. Kline completes a thorough investigation of the squabble between police and constables of the "Strip" and "Hill" districts, no definite action to suppress the row will be taken.

The investigation to learn what it is all about was started yesterday. When it will be completed the Mayor would not say. "It will be thorough, I am sure," he said.

Meanwhile, the head of John J. Verona, police magistrate, alderman and ward chairman, will not be lopped off.

"No I am not going to make any dismissals," Kline said when asked if Verona was to be fired as magistrate. "I wish to complete my investigation first before I consider any dismissals."

Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh conferred with the mayor yesterday on the situation. Yesterday Superintendent Walsh said he would stand back of the police and preserve order at any cost.

"Citizens of this city are entitled to peace and protection. I intend to give it to them," Walsh said.

Mayor Kline said he would devote much of his investigation on the arrests of police officials and patrolmen by constables at a time when they could not furnish bail for their release.

Last Saturday Lieut. Schnur was taken in custody on a warrant. It was too late to obtain bail and the officer was compelled to remain behind cell bars until Sunday morning.

FRESHMAN WEEK OPENS AT TECH TOMORROW

Freshman Week will open at the Carnegie Institute of Technology tomorrow. Nearly 700 students are scheduled to register in the regular day courses of the four colleges at that time. The Freshman Week observance program will include orientation talks by officials and faculty members, class assemblies, intelligence tests, recreation and evening social events and a talk by President Thomas S. Baker Saturday morning. Upper class students will register Monday and Tuesday. All classes will begin Wednesday.

CHURCHES OPEN VOTE DRIVE

A get-out-and-register drive is being conducted by the Pittsburgh Council of Churches, under the auspices of the Commission of Social Service, the Rev. Ralph B. Urmy, chairman. The commission has designated Sunday, September 30, the last Sunday before the final registration day, as Citizenship Sunday. On that day messages will be delivered in churches urging that all members register and vote in the presidential election. Bible classes and other organizations associated with the churches also are participating in the registration drive.

HUSBAND CRUEL, WIFE SAYS; ASKS DIVORCE

Wilda Glasgow, aged 23, of Knoxville, today filed suit for divorce against her husband, Dallas T. Glasgow, charging cruel and barbarous treatment. She testified before Judge George V. Moore that her husband refused to allow her to go out alone and threatened to kill her. "He pointed a revolver at me on the Fourth of July," she said.

CHILDREN GET $600,000 ESTATE OF W. S. BROWN

His five children were named as the principal heirs in the will of William S. Brown, late past potentate of Syria Temple, and imperial treasurer of the Shrine of North America, which was filed for probate today. The estate was valued at $600,000 and is to be divided among William M. Brown, Edwin L. Brown, Samuel S. Brown, Mrs. Nelle Wood Hay and Mrs. Jean A. McCready.

To three employes, Ida M. Cramer, Mary Stewart and John Asthalter, Mr. Brown left $500 each, and he set up a $25,000 fund for the education of four grandchildren, James H. McCready, William D. McCready, Emily Jean McCready and William S. Brown.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

From Station Love

By BERTHA R. M'DONALD

SALLIE CRAWFORD felt proudly when she left Syracuse for New York City that she was burning her bridges behind her forever. With her well-trained voice, her face and figure she expected to take New York by storm, but alas and alack a day! She soon found out that one didn't leap into grand opera at a single bound unless one happened to be a prodigy and that so far as her ability was concerned, there were thousands of other girls in the metropolis every bit as talented as herself, many of them better looking than she and all aiming for the same objective.

She did manage to secure a small church position, however, which enabled her to exist with the help of the money she had saved teaching vocal in Syracuse, and she refused utterly to be considered a failure in any sense of the word.

The thought of John Bellamy spurred her constantly to greater effort and urged her to see that no one in Syracuse except her parents knew her address. Even from them she carefully concealed the fact that she had in any way fallen short of the high standard of accomplishment she had set up for herself.

Every girl has her John Bellamy—the faithful, dogged suitor who never despairs. Sallie's John Bellamy was even more practical and unromantic than most John Bellamy's. The memory of his slow, quiet, knowing smile when she was taking the train that day and his casual query as to when she'd be back to stay had never left her.

"I'll show John Bellamy!" she declared to herself. "I'm having the good judgment to get away from the narrowing confines of towns like Syracuse and that's more than he'll ever do."

During the busy two years that followed nothing very exhilerating happened to Sallie. She drubbed along quite as prosaically for her daily sustenance as though she were back in Syracuse, although she refused to admit it, even to herself.

When she received an opportunity to broadcast for the radio, she was greatly elated. At last she could sing for multitudes. The microphone before which she stood was transformed into one great ear and into it Sallie sang with all the love, pathos, longing and beauty which had been pent up in her starved sould for all these months.

She did not need the plaudits of the little band of talent waiting their turns in the outer salon to convince her that she had sung well and brilliantly, yet their praise was welcome, for she had received pitifully little encouragement since leaving home.

The most reassuring result of her broadcasting experience, however, was yet to come. The following morning she received a message from a booking agency, saying that they had heard her radio work and that if her public appearance compared in any way with it they would like to book her for a series of concerts.

When she visited the place the manager was not in but she found the secretary to be a woman, a gracious, sweet-faced personage a little older than herself, who assured her that her's was just the voice and style they were looking for. She was to make her metropolitan debut at a tea musicale the following Sunday afternoon, to be given at the palatial home of one of New York's four hundred. If she made good there she would be booked for a long line of similar events at a promised salary which made Sallie gasp.

When the secretary gave the singer her credentials Sallie was startled to find that the woman's name was Lillith Bellamy. She was unable to account exactly for the feeling which wept her at the discovery. Of course there must be thousands of Bellamys in the world. There wasn't one chance in many that this Lillith was related to her John, and, anyway—what if John Bellamy was married? What business was it of hers? Another thing, there was scarcely a possibility that John Bellamy of all people would be interested in any way in affairs musical—her world.

During the whole of the three days and nights which intervened between then and Sunday, Sallie was unable to keep thoughts of John Bellamy from her mind. She wished with all her heart that that secretary hadn't happened to possess the name of Bellamy. She did not care to be thus disturbed by the recurring memories of John's faithfulness and love for her, on this, the eve of her first great triumph.

She bought a beautiful new afternoon frock, stockings, shoes, and a special wrap for the occasion and went to the mansion where she was to sing, conscious that she was looking her very best. Determined to sing with the idea that she was again confronting a microphone's unseen audience instead of the sea of expectant faces which looked at her, she sang with the same brilliant assurance, demonstrating once more her training and ability.

"I might have known John Bellamy would send us only the very best," Sallie's hostess employer said when she grasped her hand warmly after the program was finished. "And you, my dear—why you're marvelous! Mr. Bellamy is in the library. He asks me to say that he'll see you home in his car."

The knowledge that she had lived up to her own expectations and earned a contract with the Metropolitan was utterly deluged beneath the wet blanketing fact that John Bellamy was really married and that if she went on she would be indebted to him and his wife for her first chance at success.

It was a very subdued and sad Sallie who called a taxi and managed to leave the scene of her triumph without waiting for the manager of the Metropolitan to see her home but she was not wholly unprepared for Bellamy's following her and requesting her an interview. Of course he would do that.

"Are you and your wife doing this to gloat over me, John?" she demanded with blazing eyes. "Are you then so determined to make my ultimate success the result of your efforts instead of my own?"

"What in the world are you driving at, Sallie?" John queried, looking up at her with the well-remembered smile. "Wife? I haven't any wife. I never will have unless you relent and say 'yes' now to my hundredth proposal. I couldn't let you go out of my life so easily. That's the reason I followed you to New York, but you've been so successful concealing your whereabouts that I've never been able to find you till Lillith heard you broadcasting. She was so charmed by your work that she asked you to enter our lists without knowing you were my long-lost sweetheart. Lillith's a cousin of mine. She had some money and with what I'd saved were able to start this agency. She's very musical, and I was so bound to speak your language that what I haven't absorbed from her I've dug out for myself. Is it such a crime dear, to love you so much that I want your world to be my world?"

Sallie was weeping softly now and did not resist when John drew her head tenderly to his shoulder.

"But you think I can sing, too, don't you, John?" she finally whispered against his ear.

"Gorgeously, darling!" he enthused, in answer. "So wonderfully that I'm asking you again to sign a life contract to sing lullabies for our children!"

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

Gov. Smith speaks tonight from Oklahoma City in his campaign for the highest office of the nation. The talk is one of a series he is making in the west.

"On Sunset River As It Flows Into the Sea" is the scene of the WCAE broadcast of the River Choristers at 8 o'clock tonight. The peaceful marine atmosphere is preserved throughout the entire program by this unusual male octet, by means of selections whose very titles reflect the calm setting of the presentation. Opening with Buck's arrangement of "Sunset," the vocal chorus next offers "Autumn Sea" by Gericke.

"The Little Duke," an operetta by Charles Le Cocq, will be the WJAS feature by the United Light Opera Company at 9 o'clock. This operetta was first produced in London in 1878.

Alexander Kirilloff's Russian Novelty Orchestra will be presented during the Orchestras That Differ period of KDKA at 9 o'clock. "Little Russia," a folk song of Southern Russia, will open the program, and will be followed by an Andreeff valse, "Souvenir de Vienna." The field of grand opera will be represented by "The Peasants' Choir" from Borodin's work, "Prince Igor." "Among the Woods," a gypsy air, and several folk songs complete the program.

The popular d'Hardelot number, "Because," will be sung by the Michelin Quartet during the Michelin Hour over KDKA at 10 o'clock. Other vocal numbers will include "What d'Ya Say?" "You're a Real Sweetheart," and "Oh, Miss Hannah!"

Another program designed for the real music lover will be given under the title of "Melodies and Memories," by WJAS at 10 o'clock. The program, which will be given by the large string orchestra heard in past "Melodies and Memories" broadcasts, opens with the Gigue from Handel's "Terpsichore," and features the four parts of Castrucci's Sonata, in addition to works by Borodine, Schumann, Faure and Schubert.

The Thirty Minute Men, specializing in the playing of popular music, will be heard at 10:30 o'clock over WJAS in "Bambalina," the song hit of Vincent Youmans' musical success of several seasons ago, "Wildflower," and the song hit of a current musical show, "Rain or Shine."

Gertrude Mohr's piano program will be on the local feature on the WCAE schedule this evening at 7 p. m.

LISTEN IN ON LIFE!

THROUGH A BETTER SET

We invite anyone who believes his own ears to hear and judge three genuine improvements in 1929 radio reception, the development of A-C Dayton engineers

(1) Super-Power: The extraordinary reserve volume which characterizes all four A-C DAYTON models reaches its highest stage in the AC-66, a super-power receiver which multiplies by six times the volume of a good power amplifier. The latest discoveries in tubes (the No. 222 shielded grid and No. 250—25 watt power amplifier) are utilized with three No. 226 A. C. tubes and one No. 227 A. C. detector.

(2) Stabilized Balance: A special construction by which the delicate and precise adjustments of the testing laboratory are preserved intact during use, handling and even abuse of the receiver. A set, so stabilized, performs at a constant level of efficiency without diminishing of sensitivity or gradual change of tone.

The old pleasure of "hunting for stations" is restored by the Flewelling Adapter, which permits you to get thousands of miles away for programs.

(3) The Flewelling Adapter: The amazing invention of E. T. Flewelling, A-C DAYTON consulting engineer and foremost authority on short wave operation. A simple device, costing only $22.50, which equips any radio set to receive short wave programs at enormous distances and relatively free from static. London, England, has been received and re-broadcasted from WSAI in Cincinnati daily for more than a week as a demonstration of dependability. Low wave stations of North America (there are at least 26 in the U. S. alone) are heard as clearly as local stations.

For eight years A-C DAYTON Radio has been "for the man who believes his own ears." If you are interested in greater radio enjoyment, hear a demonstration. Any A-C DAYTON dealer will be glad to let your own ears be the judge. See a dealer near you.

Make your choice from these models, all 6-tube XL-64, operated by batteries or farm lighting plant, very economical of power; AC-63, up-to-the-minute all electric type with unusual volume; AC-65, similar to AC-63 but with power amplifier; AC-66, newest type of super-power receiver utilizing shielded grid tube to produce tremendous volume. (See "Super Power" Above.)

XL-64, $65; AC-63, $98; AC-65, $125; AC-66, $148

U. S. SNAPS JAIL DOORS ON PITTSBURGHERS

WRITER, DRUG USER GET TERMS

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 20.—Donald Thompson, of Pittsburgh, who pleaded guilty to a charge of violating the Harrison narcotic act, asked Judge F. P. Schoonmaker to free him so he could support his mother, when he was arraigned yesterday in Federal Court.

"You will be able to take care of your mother after you get out of jail," the judge replied.

William Duffy, of the narcotic division, said Thompson was arrested with a thousand half grams of morphine in his possession. District Attorney John D. Meyer advised that he be sent to jail and efforts made to cure him of the drug habit. Judge Schoonmaker sentenced him to six months in the Allegheny County Jail.

George Stephenson, alias Carl Patterson, of Pittsburgh, was sentenced to a year and a day at Atlanta Penitentiary on the charge of using the mails to defraud.

It was charged that Scottie Gables, alias Jim Scott, also of Pittsburgh, who is still a fugitive, had Stephenson write a letter to a mail order house asking it to send 10 pocketbooks to a certain woman. The pocketbooks were received by the pair and converted into cash. Stephenson explained his "alias" as the name he used when he was at work as a short story writer.

Robert Williams, 35, of Pittsburgh, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny and forgery of a registered letter and was sentenced to a year and a day in the Atlanta Penitentiary.

MILWAUKEE OFFICIALS STUDY METRO PLAN HERE

The visitors were received by Mayor Kline in his office in the City-County Building. Joseph T. Miller and Dr. Thomas H. Reed, of the Metropolitan Plan Commission, are acting as hosts.

The district embraces eight counties—Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Harrison, Columbiana, Belmont, Monroe, Jefferson and Carroll. Dr. C. W. Stone, president of the state society, was a speaker. The tie collar of contrasting material requires ⅜ yard. The width of the slip at lower edge of the skirt portion is 1⅝ yards.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTIVITIES DETAILED IN PICTURES AND GOSSIP ABOUT PLAYERS

O'Neil and Son, O'Neill, Discussed Along With Attractions Booked for Appearance in Our Playhouses

Son of "Monte Cristo" Actor Lunched Alone 10 Years Ago, Now Is America's Playwright

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

PERHAPS the old playgoer will remember James O'Neil, who used to come to Pittsburgh once a year to play "The Count of Monte Cristo." When I was a boy I went to Library Hall, then one of the two theaters in town, five nights in succession to see James O'Neil play Edmond Dantes. To behold him standing upon a rock after his escape from the Chateau d'If, while the wild waves dashed around his feet; to hear him announce that "The world is mine!" was an unforgettable thrill. I can see him yet—I can hear him yet. James O'Neil was the idol of the gallery gods.

James O'Neil is dead—but he has a son. The son's name is Eugene, and he has added an "l" at the end of his other name, calling himself Eugene O'Neill. He has been a seaman, an actor, a reporter—but now he is a playwright. He wrote "Marco Millions," coming to the Nixon Theater next week—and a score of other plays.

That reminds me.

About 10 years ago I was at lunch in the Players, the famous theatrical club of New York, housed in the old home of Edwin Booth in Gramercy Park. Some one pointed out a man who was sitting at another table, about a dozen feet away, eating his lunch alone.

"That's 'Gene O'Neill," the some one told me. "Son of Jim O'Neil. Thinks he can write plays, but can't get anybody to agree with him. He's a clever chap—it's too bad he's got that bee in his bonnet."

Eugene O'Neill still thinks he can write plays. And now he has got a lot of people to agree with him. In fact, today he is the playwright of America—on this side of the water what Shaw is on the other side. Since "Anna Christie" he has been recognized as a force. Since "The Hairy Ape" he has been recognized as an epoch. Since "The Great God Brown" he has been recognized as a philosophy.

Yet 10 years ago he was lunching alone in the Players, and fellow members of the club felt sorry for him. He was a misfit, a failure, a square peg in a round hole.

Today he stands high on the rock after his escape from obscurity, the spotlight plays upon him, the waves of criticism dash about his feet, and he tells the gallery gods that "The world is mine!"

MIRTH, DRAMA IN BILLS

Thelma White, blonde dancing whirlwind, appears in the varsity drag number of "Good News," coming to the Alvin next week. She formerly was a member of the sister act of the White Sisters in the Ziegfeld "Follies." "Good News" is produced by Schwab & Mandel, producers of "The New Moon."

Seats are on sale in the box office of the Nixon for the first of the plays the Theater Guild will present, "Marco Millions," by Eugene O'Neill.

Charlie Murray and Louise Fazenda jump from New York to ancient Greece in the special comedy, "Vamping Venus," coming to the Davis and Liberty next week. On the Davis stage will be six acts of Keith vaudeville.

The revue scheduled for the Penn stage next week is titled "Parisian Nights." It has the Williams Sisters and the Novelle Brothers, clown comics, as featured entertainers. The screen offering will be Emil Jannings in "The Patriot," to be shown with sound effects.

Marc McDermott plays Lord Beyerly in "The Whip," coming to the Stanley screen next week. Cecil Dean and Cleo Mayfield will be seen on the stage.

"The Mating Call," coming to the Grand next week, stars Thomas Meighan in a celluloid edition of the novel by Rex Beach. Evelyn Brent and Renee Adoree share the feminine leads.

The current picture in the Aldine, "Four Sons," has again proved such a hit that it is being held another week, beginning next Monday. Movietone features also will remain. They include Ben Bernie's Band and "The Family Picnic," a talking comedy picture.

Johnnie Hines, as a sight-seeing bus barker in "Chinatown Charlie," is coming to the Olympic next week.

Harry Fields brings his burlesque, "Sugar Babies," to the Academy next week. The cast includes Opal Taylor, Joan Lee and Jack Rosen.

For the last half of the week in the Harris "Twists and Twirls" will be an elaborate dance offering. The screen feature will be Rex Bell in "The Cowboy Kid."

In the Sheridan Square for the last half of this week Al Lydell and Bobby Higgins will be seen in a new comedy act, "A Friend of Father's." Lionel Barrymore will be on the screen in "Road House."

"Warming Up," Richard Dix,' latest starring production, with sound effects, is to be shown in the Regent beginning Saturday.

THESPIANS ALL -:- TO BE SEEN LATER -:- IN LOCAL BILLS

Margalo Gilmore, New York Theater Guild leading woman, comes next week to the Nixon in Eugene O'Neill's "Marco Millions."

Wallace Beery will be presented in "Beggars of Life" when it is shown later on Penn screen.

Cleo Mayfield comes with her partner, Cecil Lean, to the Stanley stage in next week's show.

Louize Fazenda is featured in "Vamping Venus," next week's photoplay in the Davis and Liberty.

Gary Cooper will help to demonstrate "The First Kiss" in the Grand on some future date.

Greta Nissen, playing in "Fazil," is to follow "Four Sons" as an attraction on the Aldine sound screen.

Herewith is the solution to yesterday's puzzle.

WAR ON GAMING LAUNCHED AT UNIONTOWN

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 20.—What is believed to be the first gun of a war on gambling was fired yesterday when the president and secretary of the Uniontown Ministerial Association called upon District Attorney N. W. Rosenberg and Mayor Luther S. Crawford and asked them to use their combined influence to "eliminate gaming or gaming devices in connection with public meetings."

It is believed part of the request was struck at paddle wheels.

The ministers praised Mr. Rosenberg for his stand taken on "public entertainments." This is believed to refer to a much advertised sex show and lecture being stopped.

"What . . . tired out already?"

Here is hopeful news for men whose foot troubles make it difficult to keep up with the parade

IT isn't just when taking a walk that foot troubles handicap you . . . it's all the time. Every man who is much on his feet, who needs to keep always at his best, finds aching, painful feet a real handicap. A handicap socially, a handicap in business—and the worst of it, the result is not simply a few aches and pains, but all the troubles that follow in the wake of foot-weakness—headaches, strained nerves, quick fatigue, sleepless nights.

The fact is, Nature is simply exacting payment for the way you have mistreated your feet. And the payment will be severe—if you don't take the same steps that so many thousands of men have taken to correct these conditions.

These men have taken the Ground Gripper way to happy, healthful feet, are wearing exclusively the shoe that is scientifically designed to help the feet. They are wearing Ground Gripper shoes.

Ground Grippers promise relief and they keep their promise because they combine the following vital principles of the correctly built shoe:

1. The Flexible Arch, which allows the foot muscles to exercise and thus strengthen themselves with every step. This flexibility makes the shoe close-fitting and comfo[illegible] easing the foot while assisting the arch to absorb the shocks of walking.

2. The Straight Inner Line, permitting the toes to function with a free, strong, gripping action.

3. The Patented Rotor Heel, which helps you toe straight ahead, the normal, natural way.

Back of every pair of Ground Grippers are twenty-five years of promises fulfilled. Back of every Ground Gripper claim are the testimonials of hundreds of thousands of satisfied wearers.

Even stubborn, chronic foot ailments gradually yield to the scientific aid given by Ground Grippers. Don't confuse claims with proven facts—Ground Grippers have never made a promise of relief that they failed to live up to.

Try Ground Grippers today. Notice how they ease your feet. How foot troubles dwindle and vanish.

At the nearest Ground Gripper store is a man who will understand your feet and your foot problems. Give him the chance to help you.

The Ground Gripper Flexible Arch allows the foot muscles to exercise—thus strengthening themselves with every step.

Tent Burns, 2 Children Die

MOTHER'S DASH TOO LATE

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Sept. 20.—Two small children of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Harlow were burned to death in their tent home on the Green Garden road near New Sheffield yesterday, when a tank on an oil stove exploded.

The children are John, 2, and Margaret Marie, 3. The explosion occurred while the mother was at the home of a neighbor. As she returned she saw flames and dashed into the tent and carried out Margaret.

The child died later in the Rochester hospital. She was unable to reach John. Mrs. Harlow was treated by a physician.

20 COWED IN CAFE HOLDUP

Forcing 20 customers to stand along the wall in Fishel's restaurant and bakery, Craig and Bayard streets, about 10 o'clock last night, a robber looted the cash register of the day's receipts, and escaped in a waiting automobile. The robbery occurred a few minutes before closing time.

The robber entered the restaurant and walked directly to the desk of Miss Frances Sheppard, cashier. Flourishing a revolver, he ordered customers to stand along the wall, and then forced Miss Sheppard to turn over the money. Snatching the money from the cashier's hand, the man ran to the street and escaped in a machine parked at the curb.

Miss Sheppard, who lives at 1128 Lincoln avenue, said the cash box probably contained in excess of $100. Richard Fishel, a member of the firm, said the amount would reach $300.

According to Frank Langloff, manager of the establishment, the man apparently was working alone, as no one could be seen in the machine as it stood in front of the restaurant.

This is the second loss suffered by the firm in a week. Sunday night a large safe was carted from the firm's East Liberty store and considerable money stolen. Detectives say, however, that they have arrested the gang that stole the safe and have recovered some of the money.

She believes that kidnapers may have taken him. The boy has blond hair, brown eyes and is about three feet tall.

U.S. Holds Walska Gems

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—Jewelry and clothing valued at from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000 belonging to Mme. Ganna Walska, wife of Harold McCormick, harvester millionaire, was held by customs authorities today pending decision as to whether it is dutiable.

Mme. Walska contends she is a nonresident of the United States and that her goods purchased abroad are not subject to the import tax. The government's contention is that as the wife of Mr. McCormick she is a resident of this country and not entitled to exemption.

There was no effort by Mme. Walska to hide her possessions or their value, customs authorities said, a full declaration being made.

Mme. Walska said she would stay here until the matter was settled before going to Chicago for a visit. She expects then to return to New York and open her town house in Park avenue.

TAKES MISSING HUSBAND "FOR RIDE," ENDS IN CELL

Mrs. Jaysee B. Murdoch, 26, of 1 West Ridge avenue, Crafton, took her husband, Hartley, 28, whom she had not seen for four years, "for a ride" when they met on the North Side today. When it ended he was behind the bars of North Side Police Station detained for the sheriff on a bail-jumping charge.

"Let's take a little ride, dearie," smiled Mrs. Murdoch to her long-missing husband when she encountered him in Federal street as she was about to step into her car. He agreed. Before she entered the car, however, she notified police to halt her car at Federal and Ohio streets.

When Mrs. Murdoch reached the designated place she drew from her purse a warrant which she had carried for many months and turned it and her husband over to Patrolman John Sigmund. Murdoch is alleged to have jumped $800 bail put up by his mother to guarantee payments to his wife after she instituted non-support proceedings.

KLINE, MALONE SKIRMISH IN COURT

Preliminary skirmishing for vantage in next year's mayoralty contest was reflected in court today when rival factions presented candidates for appointment of judge of election in the Third District, Sixteenth Ward.

Attorney George J. Kambach, representing the forces of Mayor Charles H. Kline, presented the name of Henry Mayer, of 2316 Larkins way. Attorney Samuel S. Rosenberg filed a petition in behalf of Charles H. Zeitlemann, of 126 South Twenty-fourth street, said to be backed by the James F. Malone faction. A hearing to determine which shall be named will be held tomorrow. A vacancy was caused by removal from the ward of Charles Engel.

Miss Sarah Van Zandt, of 422 Hampton street, Wilkinsburg, was appointed by the court assessor in the Sixth District, Third Ward, Wilkinsburg, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of C. A. Stewart.

VOTING BOOTH BIDS OPENED

A shortage of voting booths exists in the county. A record vote is anticipated in November and County Commissioners, wishing to give electors every facility, will let a contract next week for 300 additional booths. Bids for the booths were opened today. The Pennsylvania Construction Company was low bidder at $2,205. The booths will be of canvas with wooden frames.

Other bids opened were for razing the superstructure of Bull Creek Bridge. M. G. Moshites was low at $2,640; rebuilding new floor of Plum Creek Bridge, low bidder, Walter A. Rae, at $2,575. CORNELIUS VANDERBILT, JR., AND FATHER RECONCILED

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—The New York World today says that a reconciliation has ended the four-year estrangement between Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt and his son, Cornelius, Jr.

The younger Vanderbilt, whose tabloid newspaper publishing venture caused the break with his father, confirmed the report of the reconciliation before leaving with his bride, the former Mrs. Mary Weir Logan, for his Nevada ranch.

Vanderbilt's newspapers in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami, were forced into bankruptcy, but he announced last July that he expected to pay off the claims of the 3,000 stockholders from his inheritance.

He was divorced by his first wife, Mrs. Rachel Littleton Vanderbilt, last November. He married his present wife in Reno July 3, last, a few hours after she had obtained a divorce from Waldo Hancock Logan, son of a Chicago broker.

BUILDING STEEL RECORD SET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—New orders placed during August for fabricated structural steel showed a volume that is believed to have broken all records.

The total of such steel ordered amounted to 274,467 tons, which represents 95 per cent of the monthly capacity of the industry. Not since 1909—when the capacity was much smaller—has such a percentage been shown.

Commerce Department officials regarded the showing as an index of the activity in building and other construction in the country.

HOWE STREET WIFE CHARGES MISCONDUCT

Mrs. Cecelie Virginia Walker, 6327 Howe street, who alleges her husband was guilty of misconduct, asks a divorce from Rupert Winslow Walker. Judge George V. Andrew Miller, of 1376 Herman street, has brought a divorce action against Emma M. Miller, charging desertion.

'FINING SQUIRE' LOSES CASE

The Pittsburgh Motor Club won a victory in a crusade against "fining squares" in county court yesterday, when Judge D. M. Miller dismissed a charge against R. H. Davis, of 426 Noble street. Defended by the motor club, Davis was accused of passing a red light in Glenfield. He waived preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace A. A. Edmond.

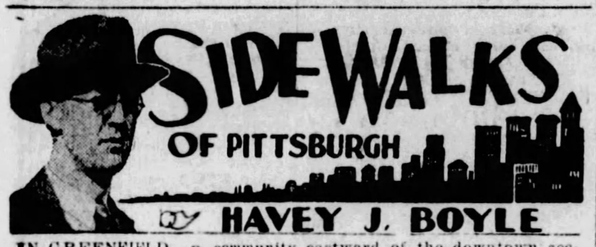
SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH



By HAVEY J. BOYLE

IN GREENFIELD, a community eastward of the downtown section, the citizens have been hearing ghost stories. A few persons professed to having seen a strange formless body flitting about in the vicinity of Calvary Cemetery. Witnesses report it is an eerie light that moves here and there. The advertisement given the ghost has resulted in nightly crowds which grew so large that a police detail was stationed in the vicinity to handle the throngs.

* * *

Like all ghosts, the Greenfield spirit is a modest, backward one. With a crowd looking on it refuses to walk. In fact, certain mystics in touch with the ghost report the ghost is not a little indignant over the way its privacy has been invaded by the nightly crowds.

GHOSTS always have been given a bad name by those who tell ghost-stories. They have been given deep, sepulchural voices and as a rule their hands have always been described as cold. People, visited by apparitions, always say that they had a peculiar feeling when the ghost tapped their foreheads with its cold, damp hand. All these stories have, of course, made ghosts self-conscious. When they want to go for an airing, they select the dead of night when ordinarily peering and critical eyes of humans are closed in sleep.

The Greenfield ghost probably was having a jolly time all by itself until inquisitive persons began spying on it. Lately it hasn't had the life of a dog, what with hundreds of skeptical persons turning out to get a laugh at its expense. What the ghost is liable to do is to make up a list of persons now bothering it and fix private dates on which personal and secret interviews will be given each and every boy and girl now disrupting its peace.

IF YOU have been one of the Greenfield visitors, expect any night to see the ghost. Our spies report that it usually comes into one's room by way of a crack in the doors. Its entry is what makes your bedroom door seem to squeak ever so slightly.

Ghosts, of course, have themselves to blame a little. Why is it they always go in for attire that is bound to attract attention? Nearly always, ghosts are reported as being attired in light material. If they went in for darker shades they might have their fun without getting any attention from earthlings. At the next convention of spirit tailors there should be a resolution calling for a change in style and material and a brochure on what the well-dressed ghost will wear this season should be prepared.

The Greenfield ghost, as reported, is one without any special talent. All it does is make an appearance, which hardly comprises a complete performance. It seems here there should be a few tables and chairs which it would move, to mention nothing about the ringing of a bell or two.

AND why an appearance on earth should be of special interest is a puzzle here, too. If there was some way that the ghosts could lead you to the place they have temporarily deserted for a visit to earth there would be far more fun in tracking them.

Any time we hear of a ghost we view with alarm the methods employed in the other world. Obviously, a door-keeper has been doing a little sleeping on the job. Since no sensible ghost would leave Heaven to visit the earth, it must be assumed that those that come our way have slipped through the portals of that region where you always get your coffee hot.

Right now, on account of the Greenfield ghost, there probably is occurring a big shake-up in the public safety department in Hades. The newspapers down there, of course, will say it's on account of an approaching election, but the reporters close to Supt. Satan are likely given the inside dope, which is, that the turnkey was found asleep.

We all have a right to expect better efficiency down there. Satan, a great recruiting sergeant, should insist on better discipline in the ranks.

Last night Hoover, through co-operative marketing, assisted them in payments on new cars.

TONIGHT SMITH WILL TAKE 'EM IN HAND AGIN.

But you notice nights when there is legitimate entertainment on the air, and the candidates can't get on, why they don't seem to care what happens to the farmer.

Ann Feigns Illness When She Hears Benny Is to Stay at North Lake

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

On his first day in Manor Park, where he is to apply the business methods learned in college, Benjamin Carrington Black has occasion to observe three of the suburban town's most alluring examples of feminity. Unnoticed by men, he sees Diana Rand—nineteen and pretty, enter a jewelry store with her friend, Beatrice Sheldon, whose trailing dress is reminiscent of the Gay Nineties. In the store Diana and Bea encounter Ann Evarts, a trim, petite person. Ann in Diana's roadster sees Noddy and Toddy and Norman Gregory and leaves Diana and Beatrice to join them. Bea and her brother, Freddie, prepare for the party at the Yacht Club. And before leaving their parents warn them to behave like "Sheldons." Freddie calls for Ann, whose mother had just told her she must marry soon or go to work. Benny also attends the party where Diana and her friends meet him. It is a gay affair, with Diana being the life of it. Benny is fascinated by the quiet Ann, who makes believe that she does not like "wild" parties. Diana, after the party, tells her mother all about Benny. She meets him several times and falls in love with him. Mrs. Evarts is anxious that her daughter, Ann, fall in love with Benny. However, he is afraid he is falling in love with Diana. Ann tells Norman that Beatrice has a past. At North Lake where the crowd are for a week, Norman questions Bea about her past and she confesses. He then asks her to marry him. Diana saves Benny from drowning while at North Lake. Diana dreams of the future when Benny professes his love for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"WE'LL be late, Benny, dear. Do rush, like a lamb, We'll wait in the cars."

"Sorry," he lied, and shifted his eyes from her level, brilliant look. "You see, I have to wait for—for a phone call. A business call. So sorry."

It did not require Hanna's swift glance to draw Ann out of the crowd, already moving away, and send her stealthily to her room. Hanna broke into chatter, saying a great deal of nothing noisily, and swept everybody toward the motors.

But Diana, trying to smile away her disappointment, caught Benny's hand, gave it a quick pressure, whispered, "Wait up, darling!" And before he could find an excuse for refusing she was gone, waving at him.

He waved back, absently, and stood there watching, bitter and uncertain. What a girl! If—

But he would not let his thought mill again. He had made his decision and he would not go back, not even to a point where he could think about her.

Yet it was very slowly that he returned to his cabin, tossed the contents of the tray into the grate and began to fill it again.

Diana visioned him there, waiting for his phone call. Not once did it occur to her to question his story; not for an instant did she sense his doubt of her. She had given him all of her love and her loyalty and her faith, and that she held his in return she took for granted.

In spite of the hundred flirtations, Diana Rand was not enormously wise . . .

The party was on a yacht, gaily trimmed with colored light; a dream craft, which seemed to float between sky and sea on the soft strains of a stringed orchestra. And it was not till late in the evening, when Diana stood alone at the rail, gazing into the broad, golden path the moon made on the water, that she realized Ann was absent.

It startled her at first, sent a little thrill of fear along her spine. But the next moment she laughed. Ann had remained home purposely when she heard Benny would not come; she was up to her old tricks. Well, a lot of good it would do the little schemer. The love between herself and Benny—nothing could assail that. A stalwart thing; one to stand throughout time, forever and forever, growing stronger, more luminous with the years!

Ann rummaged through her all too meagre wardrobe, trying dress after dress, choosing finally a filmy chiffon thing, a mere wisp of a gown which artfully revealed every curve of her graceful little figure.

She spent a half-hour brushing her hair, burnishing the pale curls till they fluffed about her head in a dim aureole, giving her the look of a very young angel when she made her eyes large and gentle. She loved perfume and, even though it was inconsistent with the role she could not refrain from sprinkling a few drops down her bodice, rubbing a bit over her bare arms.

It was about the time Diana was thinking of Benny in the moonlight on the deck of the yacht that Ann slipped out of the bungalow.

Through the open door she could see Benny keeping his lonely vigil. He wore a lounge jacket and his shirt was open at the throat and his face seemed grim. Now he was stamping out a cigarette; now he was bending over, putting a log on the little blaze in the grate.

He dropped the log, whirled about as she tapped sharply, opened the screen and stepped into the room.

"I'm so frightened!" she breathed. "The bungalow—all alone there—oh Benny!" She began to cry, and he came toward her, bewildered as if he had seen a ghost.

"But I thought you went with the others," he exclaimed. "You've been over there all the time? But I'd have looked out for you if I'd known."

She raised her hands to her head and shivered daintily. "I wasn't feeling well—a headache. You don't mind my coming here? I've been terrified!"

He laughed, told her he would take care of her, put his arm about her and led the way to a deep chair beside the grate. But he had almost to carry her, for the headache was very bad, indeed, and she swayed on her feet.

He went for water and his dressing robe to wrap around her shoulders when he had placed her in the chair. And she moved a bit so he could sit beside her while he arranged the robe, catching his hand with a frightened look when he would have got up, asking if he were offended.

"Perhaps I shouldn't have come, Benny, sometimes I've thought—felt—that—well, that you didn't like me. You do, though? Oh, I hope you do!"

He laughed again, said of course he liked her. "Who could help it?" he demanded.

"But," she went on gently, "I don't care about—about anyone else. It's just that I thought—well—"

He did not wish to hurt her. This wistful child . . . Diana had done that. Perhaps Ann thought he had listened to the other girl, been influenced by her jibes. He must make her understand this was not true.

And to this end he assured her of his liking, gazing into the fire as he spoke. He could feel her relax with a contented little sigh, lean against him trustfully. Moved by a brotherly sort of affection, he brushed her hair with his lips.

Ann drew back, a starteled expression crossing the blue eyes. It was as if that kiss had struck down a barrier, brought to her an awareness incongruous with her pure, ethereal nature.

He got up, bewildered, walked about the room. But her hand went to her head again, she looked so very miserable that he came back, contrite, and began to draw his fingers over her temples. And when she smiled mistily his heart swelled with a sense of protection. This precious, unsophisticated baby! So ashamed of being "silly," so eager for his liking, his good opinion! But now he must take her home. Get her out of here before the others came, started their confounded scandal-mongering.

He bent over, kissed one of the tiny hands with a sort of reverence, said she must be brave. And she rose obediently, begging only to keep his robe, since, she said, the night air was cool.

She grew panic-stricken once outside the lighted cabin, however. "It is spooky, Benny! Truly, I know I heard things. Please let me stay a minute. I'm acting terribly, but I can't help it. Oh, please!"

Very tenderly he tucked her hand through his arm and guided her toward the lake.

CHAPTER XVI.

THEY were almost gay in a quiet, subdued way, sitting there on the rocks, watching the moon lay a sheet of silver over the lake, make a giant fortress of the mountain at the south, build castles o' dreams of the clouds.

Quite as if it were the most natural thing in the world the boy's arm had gone around the girl. And when Ann turned her head her cheek rested against his hand—a fairy touch, all innocence, all admiring affection. And once, after this had happened, Benny drew her close, turned her face upward so the white light of the moon touched it with unearthly beauty, kissed her on the lips.

Again that look of awareness crossed her eyes and again he was startled. But she cuddled down like a child and he forgot it as she began to talk in a sweet confiding way.

"I suppose I often seem stupid, terribly old-fashioned and dull? I know I'm not gay—not lively or modern. But it's because—well—"

He urged her to go on. She spoke them all in a rush. "You see I have an ideal, sort of. I want a home, a husband and babies. And I want to be worthy of them. This is what I dream about. More than a good time—being popular—does that seem silly to you?"

DO YOU want to know the secret of popularity? It's so simple that you'd hardly believe it. Listen closely then, while I tell you. Ready? Well, then—"Hear no evil; see no evil; speak no evil!" Isn't that easy? At least it sounds so, but how many of us try to live up to this simple rule?

Don't you know—as do I—girls who never have a good word to say of any one? They're always saying "Have you heard about Floss? My dear, it's choice!"

And then they go spreading the nasty little gossiping things which are so magnified that they're nothing short of lies. And they're the same girls who run right straight to Floss and tell her all they have heard, but they never say that THEY themselves were the first to start the gossip.

Can you wonder that everyone gets so that they say, "Oh, my goodness! Let's duck. Here comes Marie, and she NEVER has a good thing to say of anyone!" And then poor Marie wonders why everyone turns the cold shoulder to her, and she's always weeping over her unpopularity.

You know Maries who are forever doing this unkind thing. Spreading gossip, carrying tales, making nasty little innuendoes about everyone. If you're a Marie—stop right now. For that's the reason "nobody loves you." And you'll never realize the happiness which comes to others because you're constantly standing in your own light. The happiness of true Love, I'm meaning—because Love never tolerates gossip.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" By Adele Garrison

Madge Hears What She Has Long Expected

AS I listened to Philip Veritzen's complacent voice coolly reciting his plan to marry his son to the Princess Olina of Transvania, I mentally echoed the epithet of "silly old tuft hunter," which Lillian had applied to him a few minutes before. His comment that she might eventually share the throne of Transvania with Noel only strengthened my amused contempt at my employer's ambition to ally himself with royalty even by so fragile and easily broken a bond as a marriage with the self-exiled young princess.

It was not the first time that I had noticed this desire for association with titled people upon the part of my employer. The visit to America of the King and Queen of Transvania, with its attendant social functions, had seemed to take from Philip Veritzen the dignity which always had invested his position as the greatest dramatic producer of his time, and put him on a level with the wealthy sycophants who pulled every possible string to gain invitations to the affairs given for the royal visitors.

For he had missed no function given in their honor. In most cases he did not need to angle for invitations. His position and the fact that some years before he had made a large contribution to one of the pet charitable projects of the beautiful and spectacular queen, insured his being present at most of the affairs given for the royal couple. And for the others he had boldly maneuvered, causing many whispered comments, amazed, amused and contemptuous, among his associates.

"I do not often take the touble to explain any action or decision of mine"—Mr. Veritzen's voice, courteous, yet with a hint of metal in it, startled me out of my reverie. "But I have planned to tell you this story ever since the visit to New York of the King and Queen of Transvania. I did not wish you to keep in your mind the opinion of my—absurdity—which you must have formed at that time."

"Oh, I'm sorry, I—" my voice trailed off lamely as my employer's keen eyes watched my face redden.

"Didn't think I knew what you were thinking of me?" There was a smile in his eyes now and his voice had softened to a tone faintly suggesting a caress. "That, my dear—and valued colleague—is something I always shall know, not from my reason, but from my intuitions."

I stirred restlessly in my cahir, for I am always vaguely apprehensive of any approach to sentiment upon the part of my employer. And there was something in the way he had paused after the word "dear" which warned me that he was fully aware of every shade of meaning which his words or actions might imply. I could not delude myself with the notion that his interest in the story he was about to tell me might invest it with a personal touch which I could disregard. I must be prepared to meet with dignity any digresison from his tale, for I was sure that it would be a deliberate one.

"It is impossible," he went on, "for two people as closely associated in work as we are, to say nothing of our congeniality of temperament, of ambitions, of likings, to be otherwise than attuned in sympathy and soul. I always shall be vibrant to your slightest mental opinion of me and I am sure you do not need words to realize the thoughts of you which are always with me."

Impossible to misunderstand—either his words or the glow in his eyes. But I could parry and ignore, and I did both promptly.

"I should have known," I said with apparent ruefulness, "that you had some good reason for your interest in the royal family of Transvania, and I am so anxious to hear your story. But—telling it won't delay your plans for guarding Princess Olina?"

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, September 21

SOME adverse positions of the planets point to hazards and financial risks as well as to tumultuous and quarrelsome situations. By avoiding contention, strife and litigation and safeguarding the moneys there may be active and progressive conditions if due restraint and conservative manipulation of funds be held in mind. There may also be active and pleasant personal contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may have a successful and prosperous year.

A child born on this day may be high tempered, active and courageous, but may mar the effects of its cleverness and versatility by a tendency to speculation and extravagance.

Doom Mosquito and End Yellow Fever

WITHOUT the newspapers North American life would lose much of its charm. Through them we get much of the richness and refreshment of existence.

DR. COPELAND

But now and again something disturbing appears in the news. We are given information we almost wish we had not received. This is because human beings are much like the ostrich, which hides its head in the sand to shut out the view of danger. By not seeing an approaching foe it fondly hopes it does not exist.

In my opinion it hurts no mind to be fully informed. By knowing the truth about things we do not fall into foolish mistakes and suffer needless fears.

The other day I read that yellow fever is abroad in the world. The statement said it might reach the United States and do great harm here.

In former times yellow fever was one of the terrible scourges. Even in the United States it burst into terrible epidemics on occasions. Back in the summer and fall of 1793 it raged in Philadelphia. Small as was the population at that time, only 40,000, nearly 4,000 died of the disease. Hardly a family escaped its dread visitation. Even the members of Congress, then established in Philadelphia, fled the city.

It was a century later that those brave men, Drs. Walter Reed, Carroll, Lazear and Agramonte performed their remarkable experiment in Cuba. Then the medical profession and all others were convinced that the mosquito was responsible for the transmission of the disease. When that fact was established, the profession knew how to control it.

I wish space permitted a fuller account of what physical bravery and ability of character were shown by the soldiers who permitted their bodies to be used in this experiment. I have a bill now pending in the Congress to commemorate this deed of daring.

A certain type of mosquito, the Stegomyia calopus, is the carrier of this infection. It is different from the mosquito, the Anopheles maculipennis, which carries malaria. Both diseases used to be laid at the door of polluted air. Indeed, the very name "malaria," is from the Italian, "mala aria," meaning "bad air."

The prevention and control of yellow fever, then, lie in the extermination of mosquitoes. With the frosts of Fall will come the death of these evil insects. That will mark the end of all danger in the spread of the disease.

We must not let down on our efforts to get rid of mosquitoes. While most of them are dangerous, being merely most annoying, we never know when the dangerous kind may become infected and bring disease to our doors.

Public health officials are ever at work to get rid of the breeding places of mosquitoes. We should do our part to create sentiment in favor of their campaigns against the pest.

FAY KING

By FAY KING

WE SCOLD the little girl because she cries too long over her broken doll, and won't eat her dinner.

It's so foolish!

We have long forgotten that day, when our own Mary Ann, with her painted black china hair, crashed to the pavement. The world seemed very dark to us then.

We lose patience with youth that sits around and sighs over disappointment in love.

"Ridiculous," we say. Because we have long laughed over the time we suffered like that for someone.

We read that someone, young and ambitious, committed suicide because when they were dismissed from a position they thought they were a failure.

Sad, but so stupid to do that.

Yet once when we were fired we felt like that, too. We know now that was our first real boost to better things.

EXPERT GIVES RECIPES TO THRONGS

erator, a Tappan gas range, Spear's Hoosier kitchen cabinet, a set of Wearever kitchen utensils, and a Lady Dover iron and Dover percolator—will be given away Friday.

Each market basket contained two tickets of admission to the Stanley Theater good during the week of September 24 to 29.

The audience was composed mostly of young matrons, but the number of elder women present was far from small. One row was occupied by black-robed nuns. In the back of the hall were some men, who seemed no less interested than the housewives in what Mrs. Crabtree said. Examination of the addresses of those present, as disclosed on cards that they signed, showed that the audience was drawn not only from Pittsburgh but from many other towns, some a hundred miles distant. Mrs. Stephen I. Hayes was chairman of the ushers that handled the throng.

BABIES ENJOYED IT

Not a few women brought their babies with them and left them in a nursery provided for the purpose in the Memorial Hall and presided over by Miss Rose Nurnath and Miss Laurabell Drye, nurses. The tots had a picnic, for toys in great abundance were furnished for their entertainment and wholesome crackers and cookies were also provided.

The interest aroused by Mrs. Crabtree's lecture was so great that scarcely anyone left the hall until after she had concluded, although she consumed the greater part of the afternoon. A throng came forward to the stage and besieged her with questions at the close of the program.

A Southern woman, widely traveled, of extensive experience and great personal charm, she held the audience in close attention by an address brimming over with useful suggestions, good humor, witty sallies and inspiring thoughts.

The cooking school is sponsored by the Congress of Women's Clubs, and it was Mrs. Edmond J. Fairfield, chairman of the department of the American home of the Congress, that introduced Mrs. Crabtree.

SUN-TELE COMPIMENTED

In her opening remarks Mrs. Crabtree complimented Pennsylvania and The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, remarking that it had shown itself to be an enterprising newspaper by "this gesture of good-will to the women of Pittsburgh—arranging a cooking school for them."

Mrs. Crabtree laid down at the outset four fundamental rules for good cooking: (1) Have a plan. (2) Use correct methods; don't guess at anything. (3) Use good ingredients, which will prove to be less expensive in the long run than cheaper material of poorer quality. (4) Use modern household equipment as far as the budget and the pocketbook will permit.

In connection with the last rule Mrs. Crabtree told of an interesting incident. At a lecture in Charlotte, N. C., a woman approached her and said: "Do you mean to say that a woman cannot be a good cook without modern equipment?"

"Far from it," Mrs. Crabtree replied. "To take such a stand would be to insult my mother and my grandmother, who were the best cooks I have ever known. What I do maintain is that in modern equipment there is certainty of success, while without it there may be uncertainty." The woman, who it developed was celebrated for the delicious cakes that she baked, came to Mrs. Crabtree later and confessed that she was always doubtful as to how her cakes would turn out when baked by the old-fashioned methods.

GUESSWORK ELIMINATED

As a practical illustration of the advantage of using modern equipment, Mrs. Crabtree called attention, in demonstrating how to make ginger bread, to the fact that the recipe called for baking it at 350 degrees. Under the old methods, she said, the temperature would be guessed at by putting paper in the oven and keeping it there until it turned brown or by thrusting one's elbow into the oven. But with an up-to-date range, such as the one which she used on the stage, the temperature was fixed at 350 degrees with certainty.

Mrs. Crabtree, in addition to expounding the specific recipes that comprised her program for the day and which included nine dishes, threw out many interesting hints from time to time concerning other matters. For example, she gave this advice for cooking rice: Cook it in rapidly boiling water. The object is to keep the grains of rice from sticking together. Drop the rice into the water a little at a time. Save the water as a base for soup, for it possesses food value.

ADVICE GENERAL

She did not confine her advice to matters connected with cooking. Here are a few examples of the counsel of a different sort that she gave to the audience:

"Music is essential in the home. The soul of the home needs cultivation, and there isn't anything that has a more refining influence than music. In the same category with music I must place flowers.

"We have time to do everything we want to do if we arrange our tasks properly and do not frivol the hours away. Have stated times for the household tasks. One hour in the early morning is worth three in the late afternoon, for you are fresher in the morning. Cultivate quick motions. Put on a jazz record and step lively. Get through with your task and have time to do something more interesting."

"Mind your business, so that your income will cover your outgo and you are not menaced by bills at the first of the month."

"Call yourself a homemaker instead of a housekeeper, and thus dignify your job."

HOME MAKING

"Make your home comfortable for your children. Your attitude in this matter will have a great deal to do with determining whether they will stay at home in the evening or will go out to a dance hall or some questionable place. Do your children have comfortable chairs, good lights to read by, cozy fireplaces at which they can toast their toes on cold nights?"

"Straight, clean, orderly thoughts and straight, clean, orderly kitchens go together."

"I believe in catering to the men, especially in giving them a good nourishing breakfast before sending them to work in the morning."

The subject of Mrs. Crabtree's lecture this afternoon is "Watch the Scales and Reduce Your Ails." Mrs. Albert T. Hencill, president of the Women's Club of Wilkinsburg, was named to introduce the lecturer to today's audience, while Mrs. Robert K. Cochrane, chairman of the department of public welfare of the Congress of Clubs, was designated as chairman of ushers.

How he turned my failure into success

"B.O."—my trouble? For a moment I saw red.

But Atkinson was a decent sort and I knew he was talking for my own good. Besides, I was slipping. I worked like blazes. I had plenty of good leads—but no orders. It just seemed that every time I called and had a prospect warmed up, he'd suddenly lose interest and want to be rid of me.

It had me worried. But I never suspected the truth until Atkinson tipped me off. Today I'm not handicapped by "B.O."—you know, Body Odor. Let me tell you the little secret that changed my whole future and helped me win success.

No fear of "B.O." now

Like every normal, healthy person, I perspire. But I never noticed any unpleasant odor about me, so I just assumed I was all right.

That's where I was fooled. When we get used to an odor, we don't detect it. Unknowingly, I did offend.

But since I've changed to Lifebuoy, I've said goodbye to "B.O." worries for good. A Lifebuoy bath certainly makes me feel clean and fresh. Its antiseptic lather deodorizes pores. And now that I've gotten rid of "B.O.", I'm getting ahead faster than ever.

Great for skin, too!

I like the way Lifebuoy lathers and keeps the skin so nice and smooth. My wife loves it for her complexion. The youngsters all use it, too. We feel that Lifebuoy really saves us lots of sickness by removing germs. Lifebuoy has a nice clean smell that rinses away completely.

Try Lifebuoy Free

To try this delightful toilet soap without cost, just send us your name and address. By return mail, you will receive two full-size cakes of Lifebuoy free. Write today to Lever Bros. Co., Dept. 174, Cambridge, Mass.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Social Inactivity Likely to Be Ended by First Debut of Season Saturday When Louise Evans Makes Bow

ALUMNAE LUNCH -:- DRAMA LEAGUE LECTURE -:- FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

SOMETIMES, in the busiest season, there is a sudden lull in the rush of social activities, a breathing space, perhaps, that may last for a day or two. Now this is far from mid-season, of course, so the blankness of the pages in the social calendar the last few days may be something like the quiet that precedes the storm. The first debut party is considered to start the season officially, so Louise Evans' coming-out party on Saturday will, no doubt, end this period of inactivity. There is one party, though, preceding that—the dinner dance which the Christian Ihmsen Shannons, of Broad street, Sewickley, are planning for tomorrow night in the Allegheny Country Club for two other debutantes, Margaret Holdship and Virginia Willock.

Most of our news just now, however, concerns the folks who are either just coming home from their summer places or are spending a few days out of town. One of the former is Mrs. William Penn Snyder, Jr., of Morewood avenue and Sewickley Heights. Mrs. Snyder is at her Sewickley Heights home now, after visiting her mother, Mrs. George Q. Whitney, of New Orleans, at Southampton. She stopped in New York for a few days, I believe, before coming to Pittsburgh.

The George S. Olivers and their family, of Ellsworth avenue, are in New York at present, I've been told. They are stopping at the Ambassador during their stay there, and later they will go on up to Boston for a while. Also in Gotham are two of the former Brainard girls, Mrs. Frederic K. Bullard and Mrs. Lawrence Allderdice. They are putting up at the Westbury Hotel, I understand.

AN interesting bit of news coming out today is the engagement of Jean Santee Masten, daughter of the Fred Church Mastens, of Hastings street, to William B. Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Paul, of Fifth avenue. They haven't announced a wedding date as yet. Jean was graduated from the Thurston School and Mr. Paul is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and the Harvard Law School.

A GUEST in Sewickley just now is Miss Helen Douw Wells, of Philadelphia. Miss Wells is visiting her niece, Mrs. Randall Turner Van Pelt, of Walnut street. Another visitor in the Valley is Mary White Johnson, of Baltimore, who is staying with Virginia McKibbin, daughter of the Hugh L. McKibbins, of Grove stret. Among the parties arranged for the visitor is a tea which Caroline Creigh Miller, of Beaver street, will give on Monday afternoon in her garden.

Mrs. Robert Wray is among those who have returned to the Valley after summer trips. Mrs. Wray was at Chautauqua for several weeks and she is now stopping at the Elmhurst Inn. Mrs. Edward A. Woods is also back from Chautauqua and is at her Woodland road home in Sewickley.

THE marriage of Miss Etta Bradley, daughter of Mrs. Orella Bradley, of Wilkinsburgh, and Dr. Kennth A. Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Edward Bradley, wore a gown of white transparent velvet to match, and carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her cousin, Miss Beatrice Bosley, of Smithfield, Pa., was maid of honor and Mrs. Edward Bradley, her sister-in-law, who was Miss Jean Hoffman before her recent marriage, was matron of honor. Florence Estelle Logan, of Roslyn place, was flower girl. Dr. R. J. Hipsley was best man and the ushers included James Bradley, brother of the bride, and Henry McLain, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. After a short trip, Dr. and Mrs. Gardner will be at home in Washington boulevard.

THE marriage of Miss Muriel Gray Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clifford Clarke, of Winfield, Kan., formerly of Pittsburgh, and Neal Andrew Sullivan will be solemnized October 3 at 3 o'clock at the Little Pirate Ranch, Winfield.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Clara Elizabeth Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, of North St. Clair street, and Thewl Barden Wiese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. MR. AND MRS. W. F. BELL, of River road, Avalon, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Virginia Margaret Bell, to Clare F. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hall, of Carnegie, which was solemnized Tuesday at 4:30 o'clock in the First United Presbyterian Church of Carnegie by the associate pastor, the Rev. James F. McQuilkan. Only the families were present. The bride wore a beige ensemble with a shoulder corsage of tea roses and lilies of the valley. Her attendant, Miss Hallie G. Koerner, of Bellevue, wore a costume of sable brown with a shoulder corsage of sweetheart rosebuds. Chester A. Bell, brother of the bride, was best man. A dinner and reception followed the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Hall left for a trip. After October 1 they will be at home in Cleveland.

Miss Erma Huttenhauer, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, wore orchid georgette and the bridesmaid, Miss Ruth E. Reed, cousin of the bride, wore peach georgette. To Captivate Even "Fussy" Breakfasters.

Heinz Rice Flakes—the delicious new cereal-food that has made breakfast a delight instead of a duty!

You eat them in milk or cream with a little sugar. They are crispy, crunchy, good—with a delicate flavor like toasted nut-meats.

And now a new process in cereal-making, discovered and owned by Heinz, gives you the true health qualities of rice.

For, by this process, the natural "roughage" content of the original rice is retained in Heinz Rice Flakes. A natural "roughage" whose laxative effect is gentle—not harsh or irritating.

Only the FINEST tea could retain world-wide popularity for more than 100 years as Tetley has!

OVER a century ago, Joseph Tetley offered to the world his distinctive India blend. Tea-lovers everywhere welcomed it. Today, the world is larger, but the popularity of Tetley Tea has endured, increased, because it is genuinely good tea.

Made from the tender, topmost leaves of the finest tea plants, blended with exacting care and skill, Tetley Tea has a rich flavor and a flower-like fragrance all its own.

Brew a fresh, bubbling pot of it tonight. Breathe the appetizing aroma. Then, as you take the first savory sip, you'll say, "That's real tea!"

Comfort and contentment are in every cup. Tetley Tea is stimulating, refreshing — always. Nothing like it after a hard day's work of any kind.

Tetley Tea is economical too. It goes farther because it brews stronger. Yet it costs no more than ordinary teas. You can get it at your grocer's packed in 1 pound, ½ pound and ¼ pound packets, or in tea-bags for individual service.

The right way to make tea

Rinse out teapot with boiling water. Put one teaspoonful of tea in pot for each cup of tea.

Pour freshly boiled, bubbling water on the tea-leaves.

Steep for five or six minutes.

Always serve with milk or cream.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY AND CLUB NEWS

This is common sense!

DENTISTS will tell you that the ordinary cause of decay of the teeth is the presence of certain acids which form in the mouth. Thus modern mouth hygiene naturally concerns itself with the problem of combating these acids—to render them harmless.

Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, was developed to do this. Milk of Magnesia is a safe, effective antacid, and Squibb's Dental Cream contains more than 50 per cent of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia—an amount ample to neutralize acids, particularly at The Danger Line.

Thus Squibb's Dental Cream protects against decay in two ways. It cleans your teeth beautifully, and where it cannot clean it sends tiny particles of Milk of Magnesia to neutralize the harmful acids.

Isn't it common sense, then, to use Squibb's Dental Cream? At drug stores—40 cents a tube.

U. S. GIRL'S EFFICIENCY PRAISED BY JAPANESE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(A.P.)—The business efficiency of American girls was highly praised by Kotaro Wakao, Japanese who sailed on the Berengaria last night after a study of American public utilities. Wakao is making a world survey of the utility field. He said America's young women were much more successful at office work than are their Japanese sisters, but he hoped to be able to transplant some of the former's methods to his own country. His tour of the United States occupied 34 days.

19 CAB DRIVERS RAIDED

POLICE SWOOP ON GAMBLING SESSION

Around several tables in a gambling room at 6884 Ellsworth avenue last night sat 19 cab drivers ruminating on the possibilities of aces "back-to-back."

A door was pushed open and uniformed policemen rushed in.

"Hey," inquired one customer very politely, "aren't you polite enough to knock before you come in?"

"A thousand and one pardons," Lieut. Bernard McArdle apologized, "but we are having a little party up at No. 6 and we respectfully request your presence."

CHANGE MIND

"Previous engagements," the spokesman for the driving gentry explained, "force us to refuse, much as we would like to come."

However, they came. And in Frankstown Avenue Police Station this day, Magistrate Soost fined James Conley, 30, and J. E. Tait, 32, $25 each as the keepers.

The court discharged the 19 drivers with a gentle warning to tread the path of the righteous and listen to the cornermen. The drivers explained that yesterday had been payday and that the boys had got together to discuss the influence of Shakespeare's writings on modern authors—and Hoyle.

ROMA DELAYED TWO DAYS

FLIERS SEARCH FOR FLAW THAT BALKED FIRST HOP

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Sept. 19.—(AP.)—Facing a delay of several days before they can make another attempt to bridge the Atlantic, the Roma fliers are preparing an inspection of the motor which will disclose the ailment which nearly plunged the plane into the sea today.

Cesare Sabelli, flight commander, said tonight that in all probability water in the carburetor or some other minor difficulty was responsible for the back fire which bent the carburetor intake and necessitated a return to Old Orchard after the plane had been less than half an hour on her way to Rome.

Sabelli said that in his opinion there was no serious defect in the motor. Two days will be required, he said, for an inspection and the installation of a new carburetor intake.

The motor began to fail and black smoke poured from the exhaust 12 minutes after she had left Old Orchard today. Roger Q. Williams, who was manning the controls, circled over Cow Island in search of a landing place, but could find none. At one time, the fliers said, it appeared doubtful whether they could make the return to Old Orchard. The plane was only 200 feet in the air when the difficulty developed.

Only a few minutes after the single-motored Bellanca took off this morning a message was received from Dr. Mitchell of the weather bureau in New York, warning the fliers of dangerous wind conditions along the path of flight. Sabelli said tonight that he expected a delay of some days before the weather was again auspicious for a trans-Atlantic flight. He does not expect to take the air again before Monday, he said.

We Don't Like to Brag—

But we are justly proud of the fact that Mrs. Crabtree, cooking school expert, has chosen our products from all others for display and demonstration for The Sun-Telegraph Cooking School at the Soldiers' Memorial this week.

Mrs. Crabtree gave the following reasons for choosing Rhea's Products:

First, the high standard of raw materials used.

Second, the sanitary methods under which they are manufactured.

Third, the best all-around uniform quality.

Fourth, the largest variety that she has ever seen in one store.

A statement of this kind coming from a national food authority makes us justly proud.

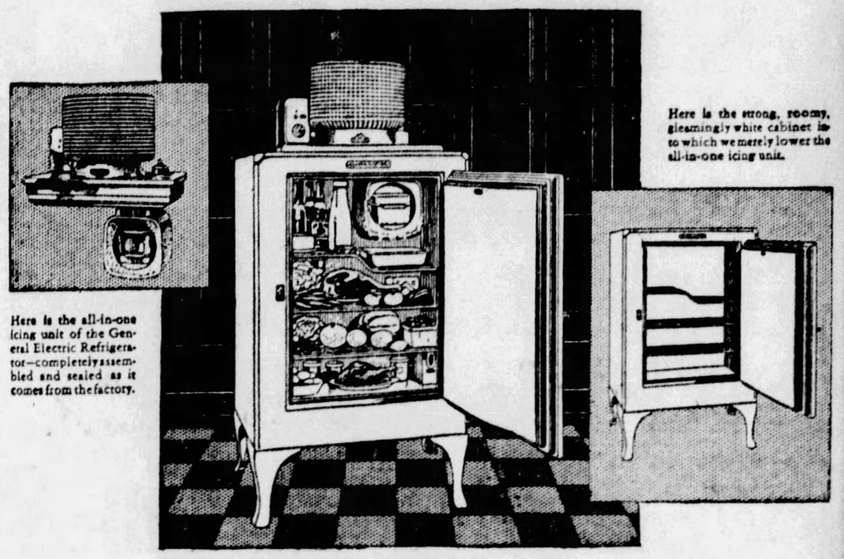
Cooking School Demonstrates Simplicity of G. E. Refrigerator



Here is the all-in-one icing unit of the General Electric Refrigerator—completely assembled and sealed as it comes from the factory.

Here is the strong, roomy, gleamingly white cabinet to which we merely lower the all-in-one icing unit.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

Not a single piece of machinery under the cabinet of the General Electric Refrigerator. Not a single drain pipe or connection inside. Not a bit of mechanism in the basement. Not a fan or a belt or a stuffing box—anywhere. This is what we mean when we say that the General Electric Refrigerator is simplified.

All its machinery is enclosed in an air-tight casing of steel. We merely lower this into the specially built cabinet. There isn't a pipe to solder or a connection to make. It's all intact—hermetically sealed in the factory, where it is tested and retested.

No one else ever sees the mechanism. General Electric alone is responsible for its performance.

Like all simple things, the General Electric Refrigerator is the result of infinite effort. Fifteen years of research and experiment produced this final revolutionary design.

In addition to making it simple, vast effort was directed toward making it quiet, roomy, economical to run. A minimum of current is used, a maximum of shelf area provided. Come in and study the various models yourself. Time payments can be arranged, if you wish.

WAFFLES

Plain or Chocolate

2 cups pastry flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
2 eggs
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons Crisco
½ teaspoon salt

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Separate eggs and add milk to beaten egg yolks and stir into dry ingredients. Add Crisco and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour by spoonfuls on very hot Criscoed waffle iron. Serve hot with honey or maple syrup.

FOR CHOCOLATE WAFFLES, add two tablespoons melted chocolate with the melted Crisco and follow recipe above.

Waffles? They can be the very poems of the breakfast table—if they are delicate. But do not profane so lovely a food with a "strong"-tasting fat. Do you know the one fat really delicate enough to give the true waffle flavor? One taste of Crisco, just as it comes fresh and sweet from the can, will tell you—unmistakably!

You taste your milk—
You test your eggs—

NOW—taste your shortening!

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

HARD WATER + = PLUS MEL'O MAKES SOFT WATER

THIS is soft water. Grandpa caught it in a rain barrel. Grandma washed the clothes in it. My! How white the clothes were in the 80's! How easy they were to wash! And how smooth and white her hands were!

This is hard water. City water. It comes out of a faucet. It takes a lot of soap to make a good lather. Even then it leaves a ring around the bathtub, the dishpan, the washbowl. The clothes look grayish white. Mother would like to use soft water for washing clothes, dishes, faces, hands, the children. But there isn't any soft water—rain water—any more. This is 1928.

Mother knows the virtues of soft water. She tries to get it by using ammonia, borax and sal soda. These partially soften water. They are all good in their way. But it takes heaps and the water isn't really soft.

This is a package of Melo. It softens water. Now, mother can put a teaspoonful of Melo in the dishpan, two tablespoonfuls in the washtubs, two tablespoonfuls in the bathtub, and she has soft water—like rain water. Dirty, scummy rings don't form in the bathtub or washbowl. No greasy feel to the dish water. The clothes are snowy white. Her hands are smooth and white and soft.

Melo saves ⅓ to ½ the amount of soap. Saves time in washing dishes, clothes, floors, everything. Keep a package of Melo in the kitchen, laundry and bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

The water in Pittsburgh is 5 times as hard as it should be. Two tablespoonfuls of Melo will soften a bathtub full of water. Two tablespoonfuls in the washtubs. One teaspoonful in the dishpan.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Disastrous Year for Minor Baseball Leagues. Cobb Rates Walsh Greatest Pitcher. Warner at Last Admits He Expects Good Eleven—One Inning Keeps Pitler From Being on Pennant Winner.

SCORES of minor league club owners moan when they recall the throngs that jammed Col. Jacob Ruppert's stadium for the Yankee-Athletic series last week and speculate on the additional huge crowds that will see the Giant-Cardinal games at the Polo Grounds.

Jacob Ruppert

The attendance at just on such series, or even the turnstile count of a single day like the Yanks and A's enjoyed, would have meant to the bush magnates, if scattered through the season, the difference between a profitable year and a disastrous one.

IT has been a tough season for the little fellows. Operating a minor league club is by no means a short road to wealth at any time, as the owner's main chance to escape a loss hinges largely on the possibility of his being able to develop a player or two who can be sold to the majors at fancy figures.

But 1928 has been a particularly bad year, easily the poorest since the war. Even the big leagues have suffered, few of the clubs being able to show a balance on the right side, while in the minors tremendous losses have been almost general.

QUITE a number of the smaller loops gave up the ghost and disbanded long before the time fixed for the completion of their schedules, and many others that staggered through the finish did so in the face of huge deficits.

Many clubs would not have been able to last the distance if they had not been owned and used as farms by major league moguls. Beaumont, in the Texas League, for instance, did not draw more than 75 to 100 paid admissions to a game during the latter part of the season, visiting teams receiving only money to pay for transportation from their hotels to the park and return. Only the fact that it was owned, or partly owned by Detroit, enabled Beaumont to finish.

Ed Walsh

ROCHESTER and Houston, two of the St. Louis National League club's chain stores, are said to have made some money, and two or three clubs in the American Association did fairly well financially, but in most of the other leagues only a few clubs are able to show even slight profits, the majority finishing in the hole or barely breaking even. In the Three-I League scarcely a club escaped a loss, and it is said that either major magnates will have to provide backing for clubs next year or the circuit will be confined to four or six teams. All around, it has been a most disappointing season in the bushes, and from coast to coast even the survivors are singing the blues.

FROM among all the pitchers that Ty Cobb faced during his remarkable career of 24 years in the majors, the retiring Georgian singles out Ed Walsh, former Whitesox star, whose son is now hurling for the same team, as the greatest.

"The pitcher who always gave me the most trouble," Ty is quoted, "was rather obscure. He was never considered a star. His name was Carl Weilman, and he was a left-hander on the Browns staff.

"I ALWAYS believe, nevertheless, that Ed Walsh in 1908 was the greatest pitcher that ever lived.

"The next two most brilliant flingers, in my opinion, were Cy Young and Walter Johnson. Young won 508 games and that's a baseball record. He pitched a perfect game against the Athletics when he was an old man. There never was anybody in his class for durability."

FOOTBALL men have grave fears for the health of Pop Warner. The old man is not acting like himself, for he openly told Knute Rockne that at Stanford this year he will have the best material he has ever had in his more than three decades of coaching. That's not like Pop. He must be sick. The strongest and most optimistic statement that he could ever be induced to make in advance of a season while at Pitt was that, barring injuries and with a fair share of the breaks, his team might be able to nose out Westminster or Thiel. As a coast critic remarks, Warner generally names the other fellow's team as the favorite and then goes out and beats it. He has talked and written more teams out of victories than any other coach that ever lived.

REPORTS say that Warner has every reason in the world to be enthusiastic over the situation at Stanford this fall. The only valuable men he lost by graduation were McCreery, center, and Freeman, tackle, and for the vacancies he has Heinecke, a hero of the game against Pitt last January, and Artman, who has returned to school after a year's absence.

Pop Warner

Besides he still has his best bet, Biff Hoffman, the star fullback, whose only rival as the outstanding back in the Pacific Coast Conference is Carroll of Washington. As in 1927, the whole Stanford attack will center around Hoffman, assuring an offense that cannot fail to bring gratifying results.

JAKE PITLER, former Pittsburgher and now of Oil City, looking as young as he did when he played second base for the Pirates in 1917 and 1918, was in town yesterday visiting relatives and friends.

Pitler, who was reinstated in organized ball last winter after playing for Oil City, Hornell, Mahanoy City and other independent clubs since he refused to report to Jersey City when Pittsburgh released him to that club on June 13, 1918, was a member of the Binghamton or Twin Cities club in the New York-Pennsylvania League this year and had a fine season.

"I am tickled to death to be back in organized ball and intend to stick to the old game as long as I am able to hold up my end," he said.

PITLER broke all records this year in the narrowness of the margin by which he missed being on a pennant winner. At the end of the eighth inning of the final game of the season, after a hot race down the homestretch with Harrisburg and with the pennant at stake on the closing contest, Binghamton was leading Harrisburg by a score of 4 to 1 and appeared to have the flag cinched.

PITCHER KNETZER had to be taken out, however, and Oliver and Holshauser who followed him were too wild and WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 20.—Confronted by a difficult schedule and with the ever trying situation that accompanies a team functioning under a new coach, the 1928 gridiron prospects at Waynesburg is one likely to cause Yellow Jacket supporters considerable worry ere the 1928 campaign has been brought to a close.

It is difficult to see anything but trouble ahead for Frank Wolfe, former Penn State star, who is at the head of the football department here at Waynesburg. Coach Wolfe has taken the place vacated by Roy (Katy) Easterday, a Pitt man, who enjoyed more or less success during the three years he coached here. The new mentor took over a varsity squad well riddled by the loss of stars through graduation, and though he has some fair looking

OAKMONT WINS TITLE

Oakmont has been actually boasting its team strength in golf for a number of years; and it has been qualified to do so, for in the Hulton club are aggregated some of the finest golfers in the country. Its first chance to prove its boast, however, happened along this year, and yesterday in the final round of the first annual Western Pennsylvania Golf Association team matches, Oakmont Country Club came through to cop the championship and the Chester Lehman cup, leading Allegheny, pioneer club of the district, by a good 10 points. The Oakmont team of eight compiled 28 points, while Allegheny scored 18, Highland 14½ and Shannopin 11½.

Despite the inclement weather the Pittsburgh Field Clubs course was in splendid condition for the event. At the end of the morning round, Oakmont and Highland were deadlocked for the runner-up honor, trailing Allegheny by three and one-half points. In both morning and afternoon competition Shannopin was rather outclassed.

NEMACOLIN FINAL OFF

The club championship final at the Nemacolin Country Club, which was to have been played off in all flights yesterday, was postponed, due to the rain and cold weather, despite the fact that all competitors were on the scene of action. The postponed final round will be played next Wednesday.

Gene and Polly To Marry in Italy, Oct. 5

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, will be married to Miss Josephine (Polly) Lauder, steel heiress, on October 5, in a Roman Catholic chapel in Sorrento, Italy, intimate friends of the fighter in Paris said yesterday.

Miss Lauder will sail from New York tomorrow, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. George Lauder; her sister, Mrs. Edwin Storrs Deming; Henry C. Rowland, novelist; Mrs. Percy Rockefeller and her daughters, and other intimate members of the family, making in all a party of about 20.

W. O. W. NINE IS BEATEN

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—Pittsburgh Woodmen of the World baseball team, champions of Pittsburgh, yesterday lost their second game in the National Baseball Federation tournament here, when they were beaten, 7 to 1, by the Cincinnati New Eras.

Ray Leeds, pitching what was perhaps the best game of his career, held the Pennsylvanians almost helpless. It was five consecutive wins for the Cincinnati team. The Pittsburghers left for home last night.

FORT WAYNE CAPTURES CENTRAL LEAGUE TITLE

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 20.—Big Chief Hogsett, an importation from the Evansville club of the Three-Eye League, had the Indian sign on the Erie Sailors yesterday and Fort Wayne won the Central League championship, defeating the Tars 4 to 3, in 10 innings.

SHOTTON PREPARES FOR NEXT YEAR

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Burt Shotten, manager of the perennial last-place Quakers, has fond hopes of getting the lowly team out of last place next year.

Shotton already is laying his plans for a bigger and better season. Shotton seems reconciled to finishing in last place this year. He still has a mathematical chance of beating out the Braves, but Rogers Hornsby and Company would have to undergo another slump similar to the one in which they lost four doubleheaders in a row to the Giants in order to beat out the Phillies in the race for the consolation prize.

Shotton is very serious in his upbuilding work. He was pleased today over the news that Frank Ulrich, the Quakers' best pitcher last season, has practically regained his health after being sick for more than six months. The big right-hander was seriously ill with pneumonia and kindred complications. As pitchers seem to be the crying need of the Phillies, Ulrich should be a big help in 1929.

The Pirates and Phillies clash here today, following their postponement of yesterday.

Catcher George Susce, former Schenley High School star, who is reported signed with the Phillies, is well-liked by Manager Burt Shotton and other members of the Quaker band. The Oakland youngster is a strong lad with all kinds of promise.

Manager Bush has several Youngsters in tow whom he would like to start in regular ball games, but until something more definite is decided in the present competition, the recruits will have to be content with working out with the others and enjoying the fast company. First Baseman Willis Windle, Shortstop Coburn Jones and Pitcher Glenn Spencer are all willing and anxious to swing into action. The youngsters may get an opportunity to work as soon as the various positions in the race are decided, especially the Pirate spot.

M'FOWLER AND PACKO SET FOR BATTLE TONIGHT

Giants Adopted Underhand Methods to Win When They Signed Mays

★ SUN-TELEGRAPH ★ SPORTS ★

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

THE sports world recently was interested in the experiment of pitting Miss Helen Wills, the outstanding woman tennis player, against several men stars. She defeated Fritz Mercur after Fritz had taken the measure of Bill Tilden and a few other notables of the male sex, but, in a return match with Mercur, she finished on the short end of the score.

Now comes Tilden, probably the greatest player among the men in the history of the game, with a statement that the female of the species never will rate with the male in the tennis realm. Let's sit up and take notice, for Bill knows his nets and outs and especially his ace shots when it comes to tennis.

WRITING on the interesting subject in the October issue of "Plain Talk," Big Bill, now an outcast as an amateur because he is alleged to have violated the player-writer rule of the game, says either Francis Hunter, who was a finalist against Henri Cochet in the recent national singles, or George Lott could concede two points each game to either Miss Wills or Molla Mallory and beat them as they pleased. Women are not in the same class with men when it comes to playing tennis, Tilden continues, and adds:

"It would be like attempting to compare Wagner's operas to musical comedy. Each has its class and its place and one need not have any influence on the other, although both are music. Hunter and Lott could give two points each game to either Miss Wills or Mrs. Mallory and beat them as they please. This is not said to detract from the ability of the women. So far as their game goes in its class, they are just as great artists as Hunter or Lott, but the physical limitations of height, weight, speed of foot and body structure prohibit women from ever attaining a skill equal to men in tennis. The seven-year reign of Mrs. Mallory as champion of the United States established pretty clearly the fact that women's tennis is back-court tennis, for Mrs. Mallory has practically no net game. Even Suzane Lenglen, now a professional and possibly the finest woman net player the world has ever seen, relied on her baseline game to win in singles. Helen Wills, excellent volleyer that she is, is essentially a driving player. I believe a woman should learn to volley and should advance to the net when she has driven her opponent into a disadvantageous position, but I do not believe in a woman ever really attempting to play a net game.

"An interesting question of a few years ago was the relative ability of Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglen. I am forced to admit that, until her retirement from amateur tennis, Mlle. Lenglen was supreme among women. Miss Wills is a marvelous player of great power and stamina, yet even her marvelous force could not quite overcome the machine-like perfection and subtle court craft of the famous girl. Suzanne Lenglen by her victory over Helen Wills on the Riveria, several years ago, stood forth unchallenged as champion of the world. She played, she won and to her went all the credit for a splendid victory. But Helen Wills, by her magnificent defense and sturdy opposition to Lenglen, proved that there is but a single step in the future between her own and the skill of her French rival."

TILDEN'S analysis of Helen Wills' game follows:

"She has not the fluidity of stroke and grace of movement that characterizes Suzanne Lenglen or Kitty McKane, nor yet the perfect technique of Hazel Wightman. One does not see the footwork of Molla Mallory, yet the crude power of the shots, the vital magnetic force of the whole game, its very defects of footwork and stroke, stamp Helen Wills as a genius of the courts. Her footwork is still bad. Her sense of court position is far from flawless, yet seldom have I seen greater power for less effort."

KEITH, OKLAHOMA STAR, IS DECLARED INELIGIBLE

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 20.—(AP.)—Harold Keith, captain-elect of the University of Oklahoma track team, who climaxed his track career by winning the 3,000-meter steeplechase at the Penn relays last spring, has been declared ineligible for further competition at the university because he participated in athletics at a state teachers' college in 1925 before entering school here. Keith was a star half-miler and mile runner in his junior year last spring.

BASEBALL STARS PLAN TO FORM HUNTING PARTY

FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 20.—Eddie Collins and Joe Bush, of the Philadelphia Athletics; Benny Bengough, of the New York Yankees; Sam Jones, of the Washington Senators; Fred Hofmann, of the Boston Red Sox, and Bob Shawkey, of the Montreal Royals, will make up a hunting party to Hopwell lodge, 12 miles south of Doaktown on Cains river, after the baseball season.

WILLIAMSPORT AWARDED STATE CAGE TOURNEY

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP.)—Williamsport has been granted the first annual state Sunday school basketball championship tournament for organized leagues sponsored by Young Men's Christian Associations throughout the state. State and local officials met yesterday and drafted tentative plans for the tournament, which will be held the second or third week in March, 1929.

GREENSBURG TO OPEN SEASON ON SATURDAY

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 20.—Greensburg High School's 1928 grid machine, W. P. I. A. L. champions last year, opens its season here Saturday, meeting East Huntingdon High School at Offutt field.

East Huntingdon has a veteran team this season and although defeated, 21-0, last year by Greensburg, it hopes to make a far better showing this year.

HULBERT TO QUIT

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 20.—(AP.)—Murray Hulbert, four-time president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, here in his capacity as grand exalted ruler of the Elks, has announced that at the expiration of his term as chief executive of the A. A. U. in November he will relinquish the office and will not again be a candidate.

HEAVIES CLASH IN TUBE CITY

IKE M'FOWLER, crack Negro heavyweight of Johnstown, and Joe Packo of Toledo are set for their 10-round windup in the Palisades roller rink, McKeesport, tonight. The fans are anticipating a hot battle, in view of the sensational recent work of McFowler and the fine record of Packo. Joe has boxed Young Stribling, Chuck Wiggins, Tommy Loughran, Yale Okun, Young Bob Fitzsimmons, Ted Jamison, Bob Sage, Harry Fay and other notables.

Promoter Jim McGirr reports the prospects fine for a packed arena, basing his estimate on the good advance sale.

Three six-round bouts back up the main event. Young Marco Polo, of Pittsburgh, and Young Guido, of Niles, O., will meet in the semi-final at 144 pounds; Luther McCarthy, of New Kensington, will box Joe Perry, brother of Jack Perry, in the second bout, at 146 pounds, and Kenney Davis, of East Liverpool, O., will oppose Tommy Kane, of McKeesport, in the opener, at 120 pounds.

DELANEY BOUT TONIGHT

The Jack Delaney-Nando Tassi 15-round bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, postponed from last night because of rain, will be fought tonight. K. O. Christner and Joe Sekyra, rival Ohio heavyweights, box at Akron; Eddie Shea meets Babe Ruth, and Eddie Anderson boxes Tommy Cello in Chicago, and Joey LaGrey meets Paul Gulotta in Brooklyn.

Jack Renault, the heavyweight is suing an American Legion post boxing club of St. Louis for $3,000, which he claims is due him for a bout in May. The club has offered to settle for $1,700.

Saturday will mark the first anniversary of the second Tunney-Dempsey fight, staged in Chicago on September 22 last year. It finds Dempsey starring in a boxing play on Broadway and Tunney, retired, touring Europe. The first Dempsey-Tunney fight was staged in Philadelphia, September 23, 1926.

DARK HORSE ELIMINATES MITCHELL IN 2D ROUND

STOKE POGES, England, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—Abe Mitchell, famous long-distance hitter of the British links, who was favored to win the tournament, was yesterday's victim of another of the series of upsets that have marked the "News of the World" golf tournament here. In the second round Mitchell bowed to an unknown professional, Isherwood, of Warrington, by a margin of 2 up and 1 to play.

Mitchell is the fifth noted British pro to meet defeat in the first two rounds of the event for which prizes aggregating 1,040 pounds, or about $5,200, are given.

In the first round yesterday George Duncan, Harry Vardon, Arthur Havers and Len Holland were eliminated. Mitchell played indifferent golf on the first nine while his opponent was flashing a great game. Isherwood required only one putt on each of the first six greens while Duncan putted poorly enough to miss a two-footer at the ninth. The Warrington pro was 4 up on Mitchell at the turn. On the incoming nine the veteran played a better brand of golf, but was unable to overcome Isherwood's lead.

STATE FIGHT COMMISSION SUSPENDS BALLERINO

Joe Barnes, Carmel boxer, indefinitely, for failing to honor contract in Williamsport, September 10.

The license of Jack West, Philadelphia manager, was revoked for causing a disturbance at the Harrisburg Club, September 17, and demanding the payment of money before a boxer entered the ring. Boxers under his management are now considered free agents, the commission stated.

HOMEWOOD LEGION POST TO HOLD ATHLETIC SHOW

Homewood Post No. 351 of the American Legion has arranged a fine program for its athletic show and entertainment, to be held in the Westinghouse High School auditorium Friday evening, September 28.

Plans for the staging of the annual Caddie-Masters' golf championship of Western Pennsylvania, to be held at the Montour Heights Country Club Thursday and Friday of next week, were announced today by Johnny Capebianco, secretary of the district association. Play will consist of an 18-hole medal play round, followed by three match play rounds in three flights of eight players each. The rounds will begin at 9 o'clock and 1 o'clock.

A prize will go to the medalist, a gold medal to the champion, along with a shield to be hung in the victor's clubhouse. The winner and runner-up in each of the other flights also will be rewarded. Entries, accompanied by $2 fee, must be in the hands of Capebianco at Chartiers Heights by next Monday.

ineffective to stop an enemy rally, with the result that Harrisburg scored four runs in the ninth, won out by a score of 5 to 4 and captured the pennant by 10 percentage points.

Victory in that game would have given the flag to Binghamton by four points.

Hank DeBerry.

HANK DEBERRY, who catches for Brooklyn, was asked by Tom Holmes to give his opinion as to the relative merits of Vance and Larry Benton, the Giants' star. "Benton is a good pitcher," answered DeBerry. "He has everything—speed, curves and control. In fact, he is a great pitcher, one of the hardest men to beat I ever saw.

"BUT, if you say Benton has a great fast ball, which he has, judged by ordinary standards, how can you describe Vance's hard one? If you call Benton's curve a good one, what words are there in the dictionary to describe Dazzy's No. 2?"

"THEY say familiarity breeds contempt, but this is one case to which that gag doesn't apply. I've been catching Vance for eight years in the National League and he's an increasing marvel to me every time I go behind the plate. He's so much superior to every pitcher I ever saw. I've said it before and I'll say it again: I don't see how Vance ever loses a game. When he does, it must be an accident or the Robins must be shut out."

Pitt to Get Stiff Workout Today

COACH JOCK SUTHERLAND will send his Pitt squad through one of the stiffest workouts of the year this afternoon, if the Panther practice field has dried out sufficiently after yesterday's persistent drizzle.

Footing was treacherous yesterday and the Panther first team did not show to great advantage against the freshman team coached by the dashing Doctors Wissinger and Gougler.

Bill Walinchus, Mahanoy City sophomore, continues to threaten Toby Uansa and Josh Williams for a varsity backfield berth.

Captain Alec Fox, the fighting New Castle guard, and Al DiMeolo of Corapolis, his partner guard, have been working so effectively in the Pitt line that Sutherland's forward wall is much stronger than was first figured.

DiMeolo spent the summer as beach-guard at Coraopolis and saved 30 from drowning. He may be a life-saver for Pitt this fall.

CARNEGIE TECH

If the Flanagan brothers, Latham and Thayer, win their varsity spurs, which appears most likely, Carnegie Tech promises to put on an act similar to the famous Waner brothers' act of the Pirates. The Flanagans, twins, hail from Parkersburg, W. Va. Latham and Thayer Flanagan are brothers of Hoot Flanagan, former University of Pittsburgh star, and promise to eclipse Hoot on the gridiron.

Latham and Ted Rosenzweig are fighting it out for one of the end positions. Right now it is a toss-up. With Rosenzweig out with injuries, Latham has been delegated for the job.

Thayer, too, has shown to good advantage. The other half of the Flanagan act is stationed at one of the halves. Thayer stands six feet and weighs about 175. He is several pounds lighter than Latham.

The rainy weather yesterday prevented a scheduled scrimmage with the Plebes. However, Coaches Steffen and Waddell hope to get in a heated workout this afternoon.

WEST VIRGINIA

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 20.—Despite a cold, driving rain which swept the old athletic field, yesterday afternoon's workout of the West Virginia University football squad was one of the best of the season. The Mountaineers handled the greasy pigskin well and were given an extra-long signal drill so that they might become accustomed to throwing and receiving a wet ball.

Eddie Stumpp, and Ed Bartrug, sophomore backs, again broke into the A lineup and performed like veterans. Butch Nixon is still bedfast, but he is recovering from what threatened to be an attack of typhoid fever. Nixon will probably be in uniform Saturday, but he will scarcely be able to get in the game against Davis-Elkins in his present weakened condition.

DUQUESNE

Layden's Dukes had a good workout in handling a wet ball yesterday and they passed and kicked in a drizzle after having had their calisthenics in the gymnasium. The practice was not as long as usual because of the rain.

Layden played a full game on the blackboard during a skull session. He and Reagan lined up the men in the gym and went over the plays from start to finish. Elmer believes in having the men understand his system as fully as he possibly can.

After their easy time yesterday the squad is due for a hard and tough session today. It is to have one of its most intense scrimmages so far this season.

ALLEGHENY

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 20.—It is the general concensus of opinion among the followers of the Allegheny football team that the two weeks of preliminary training just completed is the most satisfactory ever experienced at the local school.

One of the most encouraging features of Allegheny's team this year is the availability of several capable men for each position. It is highly pleasing to close followers of the Blue and Gold to note that the 1928 team will combine both weight and speed.

Allegheny will open the 1928 season at home on September 29, against Mount Union College.

PENN STATE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 20.—Preparation for the game with Lebanon Valley, less than a week and a half away, began in earnest last night when the full Penn State football squad was held after floodlights were necessary to brighten the practice field.

Sprinting exercises for backfield men, pushing the "lead wagon" around by the linemen and a short scrimmage, is the workout program for this afternoon's practice.

Tonight's practice, the second of this fall's scholastic year, will probably not be over until long after dark. Beginning of work after the close of the last class of the day at 5 o'clock has inaugurated use of floodlights, dark since last November.

Capt. Donn Greenshields, who was taken ill immediately preceding opening of college, is now convalescing, but in all probability will not be able to play football for some time.

CITY LEAGUE TITLE GAME POSTPONED

The heavy rainfall of the past two days has caused the postponement of the third game of the post-season series for the City League championship between the Hermes-Grove and Book Shoe nines, scheduled for this evening at Born playgrounds. The game will be played at the same grounds next Saturday.

WAYNESBURG PROSPECTS GLOOMY

prospects, there is a noticeable lack of experience on the squad.

FACES DIFFICULT TASK

In fact, it will be a feather in the cap of the new coach, who already has shown undoubted qaulities as a coach and advisor, if he is able to win one-third of his games. If he can develop a fighting team, one that can insure a nucleus for next year, he will be worthy of all the derby doffing you care to afford him.

He is handicapped in that he is forced to work alone, having no assistant coach. That means that he must develop both a line and a backfield.

There are only 14 members of the 1927 varsity squad back in the harness here this fall. Of this number only about eight are letter men who have had any real experience as college football players. The remainder of the squad, which numbers about 34 men, are either freshmen who have had no previous varsity work or members of past squads who were dropped early in the training season.

Waynesburg will be well off in one respect. The Jackets are going to be able to put on the field a line as heavy, if not heavier, than any other Tri-State Class B eleven which it has been my privilege to look over. The forward wall that Wolfe has in mind at present will average better than 185 pounds. If it does, it will be second only to Carnegie Tech in point of weight.

At the wings there are six men of outstanding caliber. Patch and Jay Williams, the latter a senior and a veteran of three Waynesburg varsity elevens, will likely start the season as regular ends. Williams is a finished product, and is perhaps one of the smartest wingmen in the territory. He is certain to be a tower of strength to the young and inexperienced team.

Other ends who have shown ability are Pettit, Porter, a letterman; Bernhart and Organ.

The tackle material, aside from the two best looking varsity bets, is nothing over which to rave. Sam Smith, a husky chap with two years of first-string play behind him, will probably grab off one berth. Wiley has been playing regularly on the first eleven in scrimmage. Shaw, Elliott and Stitt are other aspirants for the tackle jobs.

A half-dozen beefy boys, among them two veterans, will furnish material enough for the center of the line, the guard posts. Decker and Boyd have the first call. Nyhan will be a first-string replacement. Ambrose, Howard and Holliday will make the squad as second-string linemen.

Shriver and Paul Smith, the latter one of Earl Zook's Waynesburg High stars, are fighting it out for the center job. Shriver, because of his experience, will likely get the call for the varsity job. Smith is big enough and smart enough to beat him out, however, should he slip up for a second.

PLENTY OF BACKS

In point of numerical strength there isn't a coach in the section better off for backfield men. There are 14 lads in the race for the four behind-the-line berths.

Dick Toline, a veteran with three years of varsity experience, is slated to handle the quarterback post. He played both at end and in the backfield last year, showing to good advantage at both places. He is a consistently good punter and passes accurately.

McCurdy, last year's fullback and rated as one of the best defensive men in the district, likely will play fullback. Lufrano, a McKees Rocks lad, is a fine line plunger and a generally valuable back.

Capt. Red Ford will play one of the halves, and will do the most of the forward-passing. He is a good ball-carrier and defensively leaves little to be desired.

Other backs who are showing qualities entitling them to first rate consideration from Coach Wolfe are DeMoise, a brother of Felix DeMoise, who played end at Pitt; Yanish, R. Porter, Swanson, Hare, Guarrier, Patterson, a member of the 1927 squad; Gobin, Hurley, Rocks and Kink. The latter is certain to be a first-string halfback.

The schedule opens September 29, the Jackets battling St. Canisus at Buffalo. Wash-Jeff will provide the entertainment at Little Washington the following week and on October 13 Geneva will come here for the annual contest between the two institutions.

Following the game with the Covenanters, Bethany's Green Bisons will be the local attraction. West Virginia Wesleyan is carded for October 17 at Buckhannon. November 3 is permanently open.

After this week of rest, the Jackets will start their drive down the home stretch by meeting Grove City at home, the game being the final one of the season here. Westminster will be engaged at New Wilmington on November 17 and Duquesne and the locals will battle in Pittsburgh Thanksgiving morning.

BURNS, ODDS, RYANS NOT TO OPERATE

By TOM BIRKS

Independent followers of the sandlot football ranks were stunned by the announcement yesterday that the Burns club, the Carrick Odds, and the Ryans of Hazelwood would not operate on the independent gridiron in Western Pennsylvania this fall. It was this great trio, together with the North Side C. M. C. that fought it out in the semi-finals of the elimination championships last fall.

Fans can sympathize with Buck Weaver, well known manager of the Carrick organization. Buck is going to leave town to try and regain his failing health. The Carrick magnate has been under the weather for a long time, and a trip to Montana is expected to help him along. With Jake Bohren and many other stars passing on, it increased Weaver's determination not to operate this season. The Burns' club decision not to operate is because no one seems to be able to give the time to the running of the outfit. Joe Tobin is not in New Kensington any more and Graton Sullivan, a very likable fellow, is in business. Then Bill Doll, who was the hero of all Burns games last fall, has left the Aluminum Company, and Hudson and Gillas, the best ends in the district, have somehow gotten back into collegiate ranks. So rather than start to build a new machine, the backers of the Burns club decided not to operate. That will probably shoot any chances of Springdale Amicus getting together.

Manager Mathos dropped into the office to pass on the news that the Ryans of Hazelwood would not be back. Financial troubles had something to do with the Hazelwood entry passing from the picture. The case of the North Side C. M. C. is well known, since Father Sullivan gave out the news. So with all the four last undefeated clubs out of the picture, what will the fans in the district be offered this fall in the matter of championship material?

STATE'S SOCCER TEAM HAS BRIGHT OUTLOOK

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 20.—Bill Jeffrey, soccer coach at Penn State, believes his team this fall will have an excellent chance to again carry away intercollegiate championship honors. Three veterans were graduated last spring.

Forbes

At the Top at 47; Glimpse at His Methods.

—By B. C. FORBES—

ONE man is emerging towereringly out of the important readjustment under way in Greater New York's utilities, Matthew S. Sloan. He is only 47.

Why has he been selected, out of all the men available in the country, as president of the New York Edison Company, with still bigger responsibilities in store for him as the readjustment process continues?

What qualities, what abilities have caused him to be offered six-figure salaries to head other corporations?

The facts should interest executives as well as ambitious young men.

BORN in Mobile, he felt drawn towards engineering. It is perhaps worth noting that he captained the baseball and football teams at Alabama Polytechnic. During one summer vacation he was installed as manager of a small municipal electric plant. Here he performed every task, including those calling for overalls.

Although electric light and power companies in those days were nearly all in bad odor and few of them were prospering, young Sloan did his own thinking and concluded that here was an industry having an unlimited future.

From then on, he knew exactly what he wanted to do. The young graduate made a bee-line for the General Electric work at Schenectady. He was taken on as a special apprentice at $5.60 a week. Assigned to work he already was familiar with, he shortly volunteered to go on night work in another department where he could learn more.

While superintending a job, one of the workmen dropped a wrench into a very costly turbine. Sloan was immediately sent for to be handed his discharge. He frankly explained the circumstances. He was told that, if he cared to stand the gaff of the meanness and dirtiest job in the plant, he could have it. If not, the gate was open.

HE took the job, in an oil pit, where he was well drenched in oil every day. By and by, the turbine was completed and the man who was to have discharged Sloan again sent for him—this time to ask him to go and install it immediately. Sloan volunteered to start that day, provided his superior would lend him the price of a new suit.

"That lesson, severe though it struck me at the time," says Mr. Sloan, "taught me the necessity for holding men directly responsible for those under them. That method I have followed ever since."

WHILE installing a turbine at Birmingham, Sloan was offered the job of assistant to the man in charge of the generating power plant. He effected so many economies and made so many suggestions for improved practices that he was made assistant to the president. It is significant that he promptly created the then extraordinary post of "business relations manager." The move abundantly justified itself.

The New Orleans Railway and Light Company invited him to become vice president and general manager. By his extraordinarily successful handling of the public and his record inside the plant, he—or, rather, his results—attracted the notice of a visiting New York Edison official and Sloan was given the opportunity to migrate to the metropolis as vice president and general manager. Within two years his work had made such an impression upon Nicholas F. Brady, the silent power behind New York utilities, that he made the young Southerner president of Brooklyn Edison. This when 37.

UNDER Matthew Sloan Brooklyn Edison has wrought miracles. Not only have its meter customers increased from around 140,000 to more than 775,000 in nine years and its business risen from $10,000,000 to around $40,000,000, but Sloan has succeeded in becoming one of the most popular men in the city. Oftener than once he has voluntarily cut rates to the tune of several million dollars of saving for consumers. Also, he has actually advertised "we want complaints." Every complaint he personally answers. Half his time has been devoted to earning the goodwill of the people served—he manages to do this by starting work at an unusually early hour every morning. "The basis of good relations consists of giving good value," he declares.

Mr. Sloan also says: "Carefully choose your line of work. Try to get switched so as to learn as many phases of the business as possible, but don't switch to some other kind of work that you might not like. Treat your employes and the public quite as well as you would want them to treat you. We find the newspaper just as willing to print good things as bad things about us.

"The most important qualities? Honesty, first, last and all the time. Be optimistic. Have courage. Put all you can into life and the chances are that you will get a lot out of life."

EVEN the day workers in Sloan's Brooklyn Edison company get vacations with pay. And consumers get their rate reduced without the asking.

STOCK ADVANCE RETARDED BY HIGH RATE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP.)—Stiff money rates continued to provide a formidable obstacle to speculation for the advance in today's stock market. Aggressive pool operations lifted more than a score of issues, including Packard and General Motors, to new high levels in the early trading. Increased selling pressure developed on the rally, and several issues sank well below last night's final quotations.

Call money renewed at 7½, advanced to 8 around midday and thence to 8½, with indications that it might go higher before the end of the week. Banks called upwards of $30,000,000 in loans. Gov. Roy Young, of the Federal Reserve Board, in a speech before bankers at Gary, Ind., today estimated that $200,000,000 additional federal reserve credit would be required by business and agricultural interests before the end of the year.

Although sterling sank to another new low level for the year, there were no reports of additional imports of gold. Recent operations for the advance have been predicated, in part, on the belief that sufficient gold would be attracted here from England to relieve the credit strain incidental to the fall expansion in business and the big securities speculation. Total stock sales on the New York Stock Exchange this year already have exceeded any previous full year in the exchange's history.

Packard and General Motors struggled for the leadership of the motor group, the former climbing 5⅜ points to a new peak at 90⅞ and the latter moving up nearly 5 points to a new high at 121¾, before profit-taking cut down their gains. Curtiss Aeroplane ran up nearly 7 points, Otis Elevator 6, Pittsburgh Coal 5¼ and International Business Machines and Lehn & Fink about 4½ each. Howe Sound and American Zinc extended their early gains to 5 points, establishing new 1928 high prices.

Warner Brothers A declined 4 points, Motor Products 3½ and International Harvester and Pressed Steel Car 2 points below yesterday's final quotations. Early gains of 1 to 3 points in the general list were cut down by the afternoon selling movement.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Business to Continue Active for Remainder of Year, Dominant Mid-West Bankers Believe.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

CHICAGO, September 20.

BUSINESS of the entire country will continue active for the remainder of this year in the opinions of bankers who are the dominant factors in middle western commerce.

ARTHUR REYNOLDS, president of the Continental Bank and Trust Company, which soon will be merged with the Illinois Merchants Trust Company to form the largest bank in the world under a single roof, pointed to the excellent crop yields for this year and the fact that the farmers soon will pour a deluge of new wealth into commercial channels.

"BUSINESS volume this year will be fully as good as in 1927 and earnings also will come up to last year's figure," said Mr. Reynolds. "While the volume of speculation is perhaps not desirable I can see no great danger from it.

"INDIVIDUALS and corporations which formerly loaned $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 for stock market purposes now have in the neighborhood of $2,000,000,000 on call to secure the high rates now available. This money formerly would have been invested in bonds. Its diversion to another purpose has hurt the bond houses and has left them with large amounts of unsold securities on their hands.

"BUT even if the present wave of speculation continues I think that the proceeds of this year's large crops will tend to ease the money situation by making increased funds available for business," said Mr. Reynolds.

"THE farmer has been slow to recover, but he is undoubtedly in a better situation now than for many years. In speaking of the farmers we must remember that there are good and bad farmers and we must not judge them all by the failures."

FRANK O. WETMORE, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, shared Mr. Reynolds' optimism on the future outlook for business and the result of large crop yields.

WHEN asked his opinion on the money market, he said. "I expect money rates to continue high. I hope that we can continue to give the commercial borrower preferential treatment so that the high rates paid on stock market loans will not take money away from actual commerce. The advances in rates of interest on deposits in New York is spreading its effect westward and puts a question mark over this hope for cheap money.

"THe packers are doing a far better business at present than a year ago. At that time hog prices were declining and the foreign situation was bad. At present the foreign situation has been improved and the movement of hog prices has been reversed."

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Talk 3-for-1 Split on GMO.

General Motors had undisputed leadership of the market today and pushed steadily forward as the Street discussed rumors of a three-for-one splitup of the shares. Enormous blocks changed hands as the bulls read the gossip as a bullish factor and the bears interpreted the story as the beginning of the end of the most sensational trading incident in the history of the stock market. Motors' advance has been in progress now for about four years and the bears figure that another year or so will mark the end of the phase of the company's development reflected in the spectacular performance of the stock in that period. The theory seems to be that Motors is entitled to a rest both stock marketwise and for the purpose of consolidating its operating position in the industry. This resting period may last for a considerable time, as it did several years ago after the 10-for-1 splitup which followed the sensational rise to above 400. Sympathetic strength was noted today in other motor issues, notably Graham Paige and Packard, the latter particularly on the developments in connection with its Diesel airplane engine.

Packard's New Air Engine.

The Packard Motor Car Company has successfully completed tests of the first Diesel type aircraft engine ever built, and engine marks a revolutionary step in the development of aircraft power, weighing less than three pounds per horsepower and carrying a plane 25 per cent farther with the same weight in oil fuel as compared with gasoline. The engine does away with gasoline ignition systems, spark plugs and carburetors, all of them considered the main "bugs" and trouble-makers in modern airplane engines.

Call Money 9 Per Cent.

In the late market call money moved up to 9 per cent from the opening figure of 7½ per cent and halted the advance in the main list. Stocks were thrown overboard hurriedly, but the selling was well absorbed, considering the general color of the market situation and the nervousness over the money situation as a whole. Remarks of Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, in a speech at Indianapolis, heightened the apprehension of the traders, especially in view of the fact that he stated that there will be additional demands for credit although $300,000,000 between now and the first of the year. His reference to the present credit situation, terming it an "inverted pyramid," did not add to anything the courage of the stock market fraternity and there was a general expectation that lower prices would be in effect until the shock of this statement wore off.

Seminole Output Jumps.

Crude oil production of the Seminole area totaled 315,128 barrels for 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. today, against 309,603 barrels for the preceding day. Practically all the gain was in the Little River pool, where yield was 126,000 barrels, as against 115,000 yesterday.

English Bank Rate Unchanged.

The minimum rate of discount of the Bank of England remains unchanged today at 4½ per cent.

Export Copper Active.

Tuesday's sales of copper for export were 3,000,000 pounds, the most active day in several months. Owing to this activity in the foreign market it would not be surprising to see the price of copper advanced another ½ cent a pound this week or early next week. Domestic demand is fairly active, but not nearly so assertive as foreign.

It was reported that one producer sold several million pounds of copper yesterday at 15½ cents for domestic delivery.

American Zinc Dividend Prospects.

E. M. Hamlin, a director of American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Company, says the preferred stock will not be in position to receive dividends, in his opinion, before January 1, 1930. "The company owes $1,000,000 to banks," said Mr. Hamlin, "and with $3,500,000 of dividends accrued and unpaid on the preferred, it will be several years before common holders can expect to receive a return on their investment."

Plate Glass Output Up.

The production of plate glass in August, 1928, was 11,473,697 square feet. This compares with 9,346,069 in July. The record month was in June, 1926, when 12,525,221 square feet were produced. August, 1928, was the second largest month in the history of the industry. The production in January, 1928, was only approximately 8,000,000 and it has gradually improved each month.

Wholesale Index Higher.

The Department of Labor announced that the trend of wholesale prices continued upward during August on the basis of information collected in the markets. The department's weighted index number computed on prices, based on the year 1926 and including 550 commodities, stands at 98.9 for August compared with 98.3 for July, an increase of more than one-half of 1 per cent. Compared with August, 1927, with an index number of 95.2 an increase of nearly 4 per cent is shown.

Bank Increases Capital.

Directors of the City Deposit Bank have voted to increase the capital stock of the institution from $500,000 to $1,000,000. The officers of the bank are: James R. Mellon, president; James J. Johnston and H. W. Ludebuehl, vice presidents, and Robert O. Fulton, cashier.

Texas Company Gets Contract.

A contract for approximately 1,000,000 barrels of bunker and cargo fuel oil for the requirements of the shipping board on the Pacific Coast, was awarded the Texas Company. This fuel oil is to meet the requirements of the board during the 12-month period commencing November 7.

General Tank Rights.

Common stockholders of General American Tank Car Company of record October 1 will be given the right to subscribe for additional common stock at $65 a share to the extent of 20 per cent of holdings. Proceeds will be used for retirement of preferred stock and in furtherance of the corporation's program of expansion. Rights expire November 1.

Bank Sees Prosperity.

Fall business will be good, is the forecast of the National Bank of Commerce in New York, reviewing the business prospect. A high rate of industrial operation through the summer has resulted in a general feeling of confidence regarding the balance of 1928, and plentiful harvests and the prospect of full employment through the fall promise an active demand for the innumerable articles that make up the necessities of modern living. A normal seasonal increase in business is clearly in prospect, the bank believes.

Libby-Owens Expanding.

The Libby-Owens Company has acquired the United States Sheet and Window Glass Company whose principal plant is at Shreveport, La., for a consideration of approximately $6,441,000, it was reported today. The purchase will not require any new financing, as Libby-Owens has the cash necessary to redeem the United States Sheet preferred, retirement of which is part of the program.

Deny Niles-Bement Rumor.

The Niles-Bement-Pond Company denies negotiations are in progress looking to a merger of its airplane engine subsidiary, Pratt and Whitney Air Craft Corporation, with the E. W. Bliss Company.

Seaboard Air Line.

August deficit of the Seaboard Air Line Railway will be about the same as the $57,279 reported for August, 1927. Assuming that the last quarter of 1928 will show surplus after charges of $400,000 over the 1927 period, the final net will be equivalent to 4.4 per cent on the $25,000,000 of adjustment 5 per cent income bonds. In view of the hurricanes in the past month and their effect on earnings, the best that can be expected this year from the property will be 5 per cent on the adjustment bonds.

July Railroad Net Higher.

July aggregate operating income of 185 class A railroads was $93,226,279 against $85,138,972 in July, 1927. Seven months net totaled $557,251,442, compared with $558,166,980 last year.

More Spindles Active.

Cotton spindles were operated at 87.7 per cent of capacity during August, it was announced today. This compared with 79.8 per cent for July and 103.6 per cent for August, 1927. the Commerce Department reports. Preliminary figures show that 35,519,786 cotton spinning spindles were in place in the United States on August 31, 1928, of which 28,243,508 were in operation at some time during the month, against 28,228,024 for July and 32,292,404 for August, 1927.

Oil Raise Justified—Phillips.

Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum Company, sees the oil industry emerging from its depression and asserts that a raise in crude prices is justified by present conditions. Mr. Phillips says: "The price adjustment on July 26 was a partial correction of an obviously unjust situation in which oil is selling below the cost prices in many districts. The price cuts during 1927 were more drastic than necessary to produce the desired result—curtailment of drilling operations. A substantial price increase for crude oil in many districts is justified in comparison with present prices of refined products, but such a raise certainly should not be interpreted as an excuse for further drilling. A period of depression in a basic industry is always adjusted," he concludes, "and the vigorous measures now being taken by the petroleum industry to accomplish this indicate important progress already in that direction."

W. T. Grant Offers Stock.

Directors of W. T. Grant Company have voted to offer stockholders of record October 1 the right to subscribe for 31,700 shares of capital stock at $70 a share in the ratio of one share for every 16 shares held. Subscriptions are payable in full on or before October 30. Warrants will be issued as soon as practicable after October 1. The offering is underwritten. Of the authorized capital stock of 550,000 shares, 507,200 are outstanding, and sale of 31,700 additional shares will make a total outstanding of 538,900 shares.

Exorbitant Bus Charge Robs Carrier and Public

For a number of days the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has been calling attention to the injustice of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company imposing an exorbitant rate of 25 cents a passenger for hauls not exceeding seven miles when service similar to that given by the local carrier is duplicated in other cities for 10 cents. Now it develops that the service elsewhere, Detroit for example, actually is greater, at a cost of a dime, than is given in Pittsburgh for a charge of a quarter. In a special article from Detroit a correspondent of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph reveals that a 'bus passenger may ride nine miles there for a single fare—10 cents.

And that is not all of the story. The street railways in Detroit, municipally owned, also operate 'bus lines as extensions and feeders of the rail lines, giving transfers from one to the other.

The fundamental trouble in the Pittsburgh situation appears to be that the 'bus and street railway interests are one. Reluctance to adopt a policy that might cut into street car earnings is not a remote implication of this state of affairs. Possibly it was to forestall competition with street cars that the Railways Company went into the 'bus business. If that is so Pittsburgh is entitled to the coach service a real competitor would give.

Sooner or later Pittsburgh will have relief from what appears to be an extortionate 'bus fare, considering the service rendered. Both parties, the public and carrier, are to blame for the existence of the unfair charge. The carrier is guilty of shortsightedness in not being guided by the experience of those in other cities, an experience that demonstrates that a reasonable rate makes possible a building up of business to the extent that aggregate profits would be much greater than under present conditions.

The public can be charged with being too easy-going. There is in this state a body known as the Public Service Commission and it has all the say about 'bus lines—whether they may operate and the rate they may charge. True, this organization, being typically political in the Pennsylvania manner, knows who is its master, but it also is to some extent responsive to public demands. And the public did not protest when the Public Service Commission permitted the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company to put into effect a rate that injures the company as much as the public. It takes money out of the pockets of both.

We have in our town an organization known as the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh. It is made up of business men—perhaps even the Motor Coach Company officers are members. We do not charge that it has no civic ideals, but surely we do it no injustice when we say that business men are just as selfish as the rest of us. Well, they are being grossly overcharged. Every 15 cents in excess of a just 'bus fare that is exacted is 15 cents they have no possibility of getting from a 'bus passenger. Yet we have not heard that the Chamber of Commerce protested against the present rate being made effective or made a move that it should be abolished as an injustice to the public and a handicap to business.

Give Red Cross $60,000! Storm Relief Is Urgent!

Pittsburgh chapter of the American Red Cross has been asked to obtain IMMEDIATELY $60,000 for the relief of victims of the tropical hurricane in Florida, Virgin Islands and Porto Rico.

To know the urgency of the relief you have only to read the news about the disaster, which later reports make to appear much more severe than did the earlier dispatches about the calamity—and they were appalling enough, in all truth.

These unfortunate victims suffer through a visitation that places a responsibility upon the whole people, a responsibility to act the part of the Good Samaritan, and it is a responsibility which we cannot evade. Humanity appeals and we must answer.

Those who respond to the call we know will be prompt and generous. Allegheny county never yet let a summons to aid a stricken region fall upon deaf ears. It will not do so now. The people will hear and answer. But they should remember the need is for IMMEDIATE funds.

Poor Old Egypt

She Won't Bother Us.

It is said that Secretary Kellogg will suggest to Egypt an arbitration treaty with the United States.

He might just as well suggest an arbitration treaty to inmates of an orphan asylum for children not over eight years of age. Great Britain actually rules Egypt, fortunately for the mass of Egyptians now protected from their former rulers and exploiters.

Also there is no immediate danger of any attack on the United States from the old Nile. An arbitration treaty with Egypt would mean nothing.

Interesting Hop

Interesting Question.

Lester J. Maitland, who flew from California to Honolulu, wants his Army superiors to let him "hop" from San Francisco to Hong Kong.

That possibility interests the country. More interesting is the question, "How soon will a thousand planes be ready to hop from Asia to San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—To me the most arresting features of San Francisco are its hills and fogs. I'm all ready slightly benturpin-ish from lifting my eyes to the hills. A city set on hills is exalting as every traveler knows who has visited Athens, Jerusalem, Rome and Naples.

Julian Street in his "Abroad at Home" wrote: "With her hills San Francisco is Rome; with her harbor she is Naples; with her hotels she is New York." A trifle exaggerated, but gives you a rough idea. From my window I can see through the mist a half dozen inspiring peaks.

A fog has a charming and mystifying quality when it seeps into this cycloramic setting. There is no feeling of depression as in London, but instead a stimulating buoyancy. Imagination plays pranks. You want to go prowling and meet a mysterious lady in black, search for stolen pearls, ride in the moonlight, etc.

Nob Hill—if you are a view hound—gives you an animated vista of the harbor. Alcatraz and Goat Islands and other activities within the famed Golden Gate. Russian Hill is the artistic peak of writing folk and painters. All day long—just try to stop me—I've been peeking from peaks.

Telegraph Hill is a ragged slope whose rocks furnish material for a sea wall. Twin Peaks have a manner as aristocratic as their residents. Potrero Bluffs is fine picture postcard stuff, and the best view of all is from the crest of the appropriately named Buena Vista Park.

It is not the highest of San Francisco's 14 hills, but from here one may see the somewhat tragic Lone Mountain with its white cross, Lake Merced smiling in its surrounding frond of eucalyptus, Tamalpais faintly outlined in robes of cloudy gonfalons—that's turning pretty phrases—the bay, ocean and spreading hills of the Presidio.

Those who have stood enthralled watching Paris twinkle into a luminous glow from the toiling steps of Sacre Coeur on Montmartre Hill find the same scene of distracting loveliness here. Indeed, enthusiasm for views is so pronounced houses are built on top of garages to get a good look.

Dinky little cable cars still patiently crawl up the hills with a mock gravity. They recall those ancient anachronisms — the horse drawn red wheeled fiacres of Europe. San Francisco would never be the same without them. "South of the Slot" is a region that gave us Tad and Jim Corbett. It has a ready fist.

San Francisco is checkered with freshly green parks, always silvery with dew. The most famous are Golden Gate and Portsmouth Square, which contains a granite pedestal of Stevenson. Golden Gate has a sweep of 1013 acres and is to S. F. what Central Park is to Manhattan. In the center of the hotel and shopping district is Union Square.

One finds something new at each visit to Golden Gate Park—the Japanese Tea Gardens with dwarfed trees and half circle bridges, the de Young museum, the aquarium, the Academy of Sciences, Huntington Falls, the buffalo paddock, the Dutch windmills, the bear pit, tennis courts, harness racing tracks, bowling on the green and playgrounds with goats and donkeys.

On a hill in the park is a granite cross commemorating the first church service in English held on the American continent. The year was 1579. There is also a copy of Rodin's bronze "Thinker"—at least so it looked to me in the evening mist.

Mt. Diablo is another sentinel I almost forgot. This is an ancient volcano — standing sullen and brooding in the appalling splendor of night. A mountain with a perpetual pout. And you'd pout, too, if you were a mountain, I suppose.

* * *

Dramatic and musical history goes back to the days when the Franciscan padres chanted Gregorian hymns and Indians staged miracle plays for the sun god. It has figured in the triumphs of every famous singer from Tetrazzini to Galli-Curci. And it should be a slick spot for an ambitious Swiss yodeler.

* * *

San Francisco's mayor is somewhat like New York's—dapper, dressy and popular. His name is James Rolph and he has been mayoring for 17 years, with his present term expiring in three years. He is an official glad hander whose enthusiasm for his job has never waned. Hereabouts Jimmy is quite a card.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Volcanoes

ACCORDING to information collected by Science Service, there are 65 active volcanoes scattered over the face of the earth. I am not aware that anyone has even counted the extinct ones, but they are certainly much more numerous, and some have undergone changes which render them unrecognizable except to expert investigation.

These 65 vents for the escape of subterranean gases and molten lava manifestly are too few and too small to suggest that the interior of the earth is a "mass of molten fire," as some persons still continue to think. The known volcanoes all appear to act independently of one another, although there are some cases of apparent relation of activity where the vents lie in the same region. The simple fact of this general independence of action shows that the lava and other eruptive products of a volcano are not drawn from a great common reservoir of molten rock. There may be local, and more or less temporary, accumulations of liquified rock in the earth's crust in regions where the conditions are favorable for their formation. But there is no "sea of fire" under the rind of the globe, which, as a whole, appears to possess the rigidity of a steel ball.

Volcanic eruptions are only pustules on the earth's face, and except for the volumes of smoke and ashes that they emit, it would generally require a powerful telescope to enable an observer on the moon to note their occurrence. In some cases, however, as, for instance, in 1883, when Krakatoa, in the East Indies, blew itself to pieces and sent aloft clouds of ashes that enveloped the whole earth with a misty cover, lasting for months, the scene from the moon would have been a stupendous spectacle for lunar astronomers. But they would have to look sharply to detect the ordinary eruptions of Vesuvius, although when that famous volcano really arouses itself, as it did at the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum, the great plume shaken over its field of destruction would tell to the lunarians a story that they might be able to interpret if they knew something of the past history of their own little world.

There was evidently a period in the geologic past when volcanic activity occurred on the earth on a scale unknown within historic time. An appalling memorial of this is to be seen in the vast "lava plains" covering nearly two hundred thousand square miles in Idaho, Oregon and Washington. But in this case there was no such trifling outburst as an eruption of Vesuvius or Etna, for instead incredible floods of molten rock poured forth and buried hills and valleys alike, changing the entire topography of a region now constituting parts of three great states. The flood hardened into a level surface of black basalt, in which now are found profound trenches and canyons cut by rivers during the several million years that have lapsed since the great outpour.

Prof. William B. Scott reminds us that a similar and even larger mass of lava piled up in successive sheets by different outpourings occurs in the Deccan in India, and another one in East Africa.

As some paleontologists are now talking of ancestors of the human race living on the earth millions of years ago, one may wonder whether any of them can have been contemporaries of these calamitous exhibitions of volcanic force. At any rate, there is no sign that the earth will in the future suffer from similar visitations. The existing volcanoes are terrible enough for those who live near them, but the peril that they offer has in many cases been reduced by the study of vulcanologists who have learned to feel their pulses and to foresee the approach of a dangerous state of excitement.

Moving Movies

FROM Hollywood the air mail carries an average of 15 reels of film a day. Air mail, which means speed, saves large sums for producers who use it.

The picture, whether it costs anywhere from $100,000 to $1,000,000, earns nothing until it gets into distribution. Each day lost after it is finished represents thousands of dollars in box office receipts.

Isn't It So?

Guessing is less work than thinking, and that's why so many of us guess.

* * *

In spite of the high cost of everything else, cheap notoriety may still be acquired.

Most of us prefer to profit by the mistakes of other people rather than by our own.

Loudness in Public

TO abuse a waiter or a waitress in a public dining room is to show that you have not been long accustomed to service from another person.

Frequently this is done in a voice loud and disagreeable, intended to be heard by the whole assemblage, evidently.

Often persons who have little education attain wealth suddenly.

They think that being sharp, dictatorial and commanding with those who serve them in various offices at home or in public is an indication that they have long been served by paid help.

But their idea in this respect is not borne out by the facts.

If they but knew, such loud and showy manners proclaim quite the reverse among educated, cultured persons, to whom wealth has become second nature.

A person of innate refinement and good breeding seeks to be as unobtrusive as possible at all times.

They have not that silly degree of vanity that craves attention.

If they must register complaint it is done in a low voice in order that it may be heard only by the one to whom their words are addressed.

The well-bred person never seeks to draw any special attention to himself.

The Rhyming Optimist

Symbols

THEY are but symbols, nothing more;
The rose that blossoms by your door,
The sighing, singing Summer breeze,
The pungent leaves of camphor trees,
They all are symbols and men guess
Too dimly what they would express.

A symbol waits in tender hands
And gracious gaze that understands
How, back of every groping act,
Lies all the loveliness it lacked,
Perfection flowering in intent,
Though, with each deed, some dross is blent.

By way of bird-song, rose or glance
Men find, beyond the world where chance
Might seem to rule, a sure design;
These symbols all breathe love divine,
Of fair, unearthly realms they speak
Where wait all joys our beings seek.

Great Passages from the Bible

Moses Exhorts Israel

(Deuteronomy 4: 32-40)

FOR ask now of the days that are past, which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and ask from the one side of heaven unto the other, whether there hath been any such thing as this great thing is, or hath been heard like it?

Did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as thou hast heard, and live?

Or hath God assayed to go and take him a nation from the midst of another nation, by temptations, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a stretched out arm, and by great terrors, according to all that the Lord your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes?

Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know that the Lord he is God; there is none else beside him.

Out of heaven he made thee to hear his voice, that he might instruct thee: and upon earth he shewed thee his great fire; and thou heardest his words out of the midst of the fire.

And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose their seed after them, and brought thee out in his sight with his mighty power out of Egypt;

To drive out nations from before thee greater and mightier than thou art, to bring thee in, to give thee their land for an inheritance, as it is this day.

Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else.

Thou shalt keep therefore his statutes, and his commandments, which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the earth, which the Lord thy God giveth thee, for ever.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

MISSIONARIES have a terrible time with cannibals. They can't hardly make the savages behave at all. I heard about one new missionary that walked up to the cannibal head-hunter chief and says to him, "Ain't you ashamed of yourself, bringing in all them heads? You encourage your young men to go out head-hunting in the bush, and you practically debauch their tastes. What are heads good for anyway? What'll you do with 'em?"

"You're right, Sir," says the chief. "I'm kinda ashamed of myself. If it wasn't for my women I'd never go head-hunting. But I've got five wives that all just adore noodle soup."

Mistaken Identity

A VERY thin athlete was much annoyed by the attentions of a small fox terrier during a recent sports meeting.

He had just finished running in the hundred yards, and as he stood puffing and panting at the end of the track, the fox terrier sniffed hungrily at his legs.

"Hi!" shouted the athlete. "Whoever owns this blinkin' animal might have the decency to call him off."

A harsh voice responded.

"Come 'ere, Spot!" it said gruffly. "Them ain't bones—them's legs!"

Poverty-Stricken

THE wayfarer paused outside the large white house. As he did so another of his kind came shuffling out of the gate.

"What luck, mate?" asked the first tramp of the new arrival.

His companion in distress looked sorrowfully back at the house he had just left before he ventured to answer.

"It ain't no use tryin' in there, mate," he replied, shaking his head. "That's a poverty-stricken hole. There was a couple o' women tryin' to play on one blinkin' pianner!"—London Answers.

Self-Advertising

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

The English gentleman is supposed to be the most modest of men. Be blushes when reference is made to his exploits or achievements. While the continental Catholic crosses himself ostentatiously in public an Englishman is as ashamed of being found saying his prayers as he would be being found stealing apples.

Nevertheless, publicity has a certain economic value, witness the devices of many people to get it. It is hard for a modest man to sell his wares.

It may be possible to make the best rat trap in the world and find folks beating a path to your door, but most people insist on having a a red flag in front of their door to attract people to it. It is hard for the ordinary mind to distinguish between self-advertising and fame, upon being great and being called great. Most of us do not want to be a good pianist, but to be thought a good pianist.

When a political candidate mingles with a crowd of strikers and dares policemen to arrest him; when a magazine editor personally sells one of his magazines in a place where its sale is forbidden; when a writer of fiction dares God to strike him dead while occupying a pulpit; the chances are, what he is trying to do is advertise himself.

A sense of dramatic values has been an aid to the career of many political aspirants, reformers, and writers.

Luther burned the Pope's bull at the city gate instead of in the stove in his own home.

Mark Twain wore a white dress suit in crowds where every other man was attired in black.

Tennyson wore a striking wide-brimmed hat and a long cloak that set him apart and made him easily recognized in a crowd.

The founder of a new school of medicine was never seen in public without a long flowing tie. He also had his beard and moustache cut in a striking, individual fashion that attracted attention wherever he did go. He replied, "That's the reason."

Members of Congress have received many newspaper stories by always wearing the same kind of a flower in their buttonhole, or appearing in a wide-brimmed hat, or some similar individual habit adopted to attract attention.

The attempt to gain by self-advertising through assuming striking peculiarities has had a precedent in many famous men.

But such advertising aided their market rather than their wares.

They became better known thereby, but did not produce better stuff.

Only when self-advertising is coupled with real ability does it contribute to a lasting reputation. While some men of real genius have neglected self-advertising and thus failed, many more have relied upon it and neglected the improvement of their product to the detriment of their lasting reputation.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By LEOLA ALLARD.

A WOMAN'S face may lie about her age, but her hands always tell the truth. Fanny Ward told me that was her greatest chore, but to keep them soft and as young looking as possible, she mixes great bowls of the cream she sells with her hands.

A charming Parisienne is painting pictures of icy ladies, willowy and indifferent, and they are becoming quite the vogue. They look as if they might fit perfectly, into these night club days, when women get all they can and give as little as possible.

Did you know that parrots like colored folks best? A lady next door says her parrot swears at all her white guests and gets very cordial when the laundress comes. Mine does the same. White folks make him sick. The laundress says: "Colored folks is kinder and those birds know kindness."

A woman killed herself over a man she loved. I talked with him about her immediately after and he said:

"I never left her that she didn't begin to telephone me all over town a half hour later. Wanted to find out where I was. Wanted to know if I told her the truth. Wanted to know where I was and with whom. No man could stand that from the most attractive woman that ever lived."

This same man told me of the things of which this woman accused him. He said she did many things that made life pretty burdensome. And for some reason, probably to sympathize, because I knew he cared for her, and felt pretty well shakey, I said: "She was unjust."

The man looked up and said: "Just? Only dull, uninteresting people are just!"

Women who seem to be telling you all about their love affairs, usually hide the most interesting high lights. Women are experts at telling little when they seem to be spilling the works.

Women in the vicinity of Carnegie Hall, in New York, all seem to be taking singing lessons and practicing eternally. Which fact is nothing to make one satisfied with the high rents. And then when they learn HOW to sing and sing SONGS, you have to pay to hear them. After the agony you go through listening to the scales, you'd think the neighborhood would get free tickets.
